CLASH AT CHICAGO PLANT IN SIT-DOWN STRIKE

Call Truce In Chicago Battle On Sit-Downers

Deputies Seek To Evacuate Plant Held By Sit-Down Strikers

TEAR GAS BOMBS HURLED IN CLASH

Court Order Issued To Have Plant Evacuated Causes Trouble

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Feb. 19.—A temporary truce was called today in the struggle between 100-sit-down strikers and a corps of 120 deputies at north Chicago.

The truce was called at the request of A. J. Anselm, superintendent of the Fansteel Metallurgical plant held by strikers. As officers gathered for a second attack on two barricaded buildings, Anselm stepped up and said:

"Maybe They'll Come Out"

"Let's wait until the (tear) gas clears away. Then we'll have a talk with the men. Maybe they will come out."

From a striker who slipped out, police said they learned the men inside were torn by dissension, some wishing to surrender and others insisting that they continue their defense of the buildings.

Repel First Attack

Chicago, Feb. 19.—Sit-down strikers hurled acid, bolts, nuts and other objects today to repel the first attack by officers seeking to oust them from the Fansteel Metalurgical plant in North Chicago.

More than one hundred deputy sheriffs mobilized under Sheriff L. A. Doolittle to bring the strikers into court immediately gathered themselves for another assault on the two barricaded buildings.

The first clash between authorities and approximately one hun-

These trucks were similiar to the one just purchased by the state highway department in this vicinity. For several weeks, large trucks, enroute to the City of New York, Bureau of Sanitation, have been passing through here daily.

The opposition will send Senator Wheeler (D) of Montana, noted liberal and personal friend of the president, to the radio tonight with a special appeal to progressives,

The tragedy occurred at 10:42 a. m. yesterday while the Wyoming was laying down a protective barrage for the landing of troops on San Clemente Island, 60 miles offshore, during secret maneuvers involving the army, navy and marine corps, in progress for a week.

Plans No Inquest In Death Of Noss

Coroner Orville Potter Is Satisfied Death Was Case Of Suicide

FUNERAL SERVICE SATURDAY AT 3 P. M.

Coroner Orville Potter stated today that he planned no inquest into the death of Hamilton Noss, of 707 Highland avenue, who was instantly killed Thursday morning, when he leaped in front of a P. and L. E. passenger train, just east of the Seventh Ward station on South Liberty street. Coroner Potter is satisfied that Noss' death was purely a case of suicide.

The investigation of Coroner Potter has developed the fact that Noss had threatened to take his life in just such a manner and had told different people of his plans, but that they felt he was not in earnest about it.

Noss had no money in his clothing only a few insurance receipts being found. He secured his breakfast at the Liberty Hotel on South Liberty street a short time before he hurled

Reversing the usual order of reunions, the business and speech-making came first and the dinner followed that. President Edward D. Pritchard presided and introduced a number of former Lincoln-Garfield students for short addresses. Among these were Mayor Charles E. McGrath, County Treasurer Joseph H. Hartland, James M. Hughes, Councilman Joseph D. Alexander, and William A. Francis. The main speaker of the evening was J. J. Powell, Jr., of Aliquippa, now a steel executive, who spoke on "Steel". Plan To Arraign Cleveland Men This Afternoon

Hearing In Case Of Alleged Assailants Of Dukes Was Scheduled

TRACI AND PERCONTI RETURNED FROM OHIO

Early this afternoon it was planned to arraign Angelo Pedonesi and Sam Traci on charges of murder arising out of the death of Officer Robert Dukes, and Paul Perconti and Sam Santucci on charges of accessory after the fact in connection with the same killing.

Traci and Perconti were returned from Cleveland, O., Thursday afternoon following extradition proceedings in that city. Pedonesi and Santucci were already in the county jail. They were assigned cells and in the case of Pedonesi and Tracy are being kept in the cells all the time.

They have little to say, according to Sheriff Edward D. Pritchard, and seem to be frightened by the seriousness of the charge against them. Several letters have arrived for Pedonesi and some of his family have been here to see him. On Thursday brothers of Pedonesi and Traci came to New Castle to see the men in the county jail.

COURTHOUSE, SOMERSET, Pa., Feb. 19.—Mysterious papers taken from the pockets of Frank C. Monaghan, 64, on the night he died in the Bertillon room in the Fayette county courthouse disappeared from a safe in the police station, it was admitted today by night chief of police Charles Malik.

Malik one of the seven indicted for murder in the case made the admission under a fiery cross-examination by Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti, the special prosecutor, who was blocked by defense objections when he attempted to bring into the testimony details of the mysterious "papers."

They pertained, he intimated, to an investigation Monaghan was making of District Attorney James Reilly and Chief County Detective John C. Wall.

Miss Louise Hess Named May Queen

Students Select Queen At Election Held At Westminster On Thursday

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Feb. 19—Blonde wavy hair and brown eyes five-feet-five and a suggestion of dimples were the call of the day at Westminster college Thursday, when the student body elected Miss Louise Hess, Avalon junior, as May Queen for 1937.

Miss Hess's competitors were two blondes and a brunette: Miss Sarah Hamilton, Smith's Ferry; Miss Mary Boyd, Wilkinsburg; and Miss Mary Elizabeth Grounds, Roaring Spring.

The students' choice, Miss Hess, is a sports-type of girl, fond of all sports and especially horseback riding, hockey, and dancing. Her favorite type of clothes is sports-outfits.

She is a member of Chi Omega sorority; a member of the Women's Athletic association; on the Pan-Hellenic council; and secretary of her sorority. She is a major in commercial teachers' training.

Miss Hess is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Hess, Avalon; and a graduate of Oliver high school, Pittsburgh.

STATE BUDGET NEARLY READY

Federal Fund Decision Today

Governor Earle Expects To Present State Budget Next Week

BUDGET MESSAGE TWICE POSTPONED

By TONY S. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Feb. 19.—Entirely dependent upon President Roosevelt, the "zero-hour" for Pennsylvania's major budget decision was set for 3:30 p. m., today at which time Gov. George H. Earle was to receive final word on the amount and nature of federal funds he may count on for his institutional building program.

Even with this word, however, the long-delayed budget message may not go to the legislature next Monday night as planned, while Governor Earle remained "hopeful," administration leaders named Wednesday noon as the more likely time of its submission. The message has been twice postponed from February 1.

Following a five-hour budget conference with administration and legislative leaders, the governor said he had received "encouraging word" from the nation's capital but that a call from Marvin McIntyre, the president's secretary, would settle the matter of PWA aid definitely this afternoon.

Out of the conference also came reports the administration would attempt to trim commonwealth taxes for the coming biennium. Leaders would only hint on the possibility."

FARM AND LABOR SUPPORT IS SOUGHT ON COURT PROPOSAL

farmers and workers to oppose the Roosevelt program. Wheeler has declared "there is nothing democratic, progressive or fundamentally sound in the proposal." He added that if any other president proposed the same change, all liberals would condemn it as "fundamentally unsound, morally wrong and an attempt to set up a dictatorship in this country."

Wheeler will be making a personal appeal to the state legislature of Montana, which will meet in special session to hear his address tonight. It was rumored the legislature will vote on the question of endorsing or opposing the president's plan, after hearing Wheeler.

The opposition has won an endorsement of its position from the National Grange, oldest and possibly strongest of the farm organizations. The third of the "big three," The Farmers' Union, has been noncommittal.

Protests In Great Majority

Members of congress continued to be flooded with messages on the issue, with protests, they said, still in the great majority. There was evidence though of organized activities on both sides. Many local unions were sending messages to senators and representatives to vote for the larger court on the ground, as one said, that "it is the only way the president can get his lgislative reforms into effect."

On the opposite side, there appeared for the first time printed protests, red and green in color, apparently being circulated only in the midwest. These protests, with a line blank for a signature, read:

"Hands off the supreme court. Believing that the proposal to revise and weaken the U. S. supreme court would prepare the way for dictatorship in our country, I earnestly urge you to use your influence against the measure." Hundreds of these flooded congressional offices.

Friends and foes of the plan disagreed as to the attitude of the people.

Senator Van Nuys (D) of Indiana, a leader of the opposition, reported that out of the first 5,000 letters reaching his office on the issue, 4,719 opposed it and only 281 supported it. He added:

"I am perfectly amazed by the number of women writing me in protest against the president's proposal. They protest it mans dictatorship in the end and in the end, loss of security in their homes."

himself in front of the oncoming train, but did not pay for it. He told the people in the dining room that he had no money but would work for his breakfast.

No Explanation Of Cause

No further light on why Noss wanted to take his life could be shed by Miss Croxall. While she was with him on the station platform, they had talked about the matter she stated, as Noss had told her that was what he intended doing and she was trying to get him to forget about it. Miss Croxall and Mr. Noss resided at the Blanning home, 707 Highland avenue, and were merely acquaintances, it is said. He did not tell Miss Croxall why he intended doing such a rash thing, only stating that he was going to do it.

Funeral services will be conducted on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Offutt funeral home, with Rev. Philip C. Pearson rector of Trinity church, in charge. Interment will be made in Oak Park cemetery.

The family will be at the funeral home when friends call tonight from 7 to 9 o'clock.

would be speeded up and America would not lag behind Britain in its building program.

Before the House of Commons voted, 329 to 145, authorization for a $2,000,000,000 bond issue to help finance rearmament, Baldwin made it clear that he would press for a new "Locarno" pact for western European security before he makes way at No. 10 Downing street for Neville Chamberlain.

"The government is devoting its efforts to maintain peace by a pact to take the place of the old Locarno pact with the old Locarno powers (Germany, Italy, France, Belgium and Britain)," Baldwin told the house.

"I think it may well be that the most hopeful prospect in the immediate future is the prospect of a regional pact."

Air Arm Biggest.

The prime minister emphasized that the air arm would outstrip both army and navy in the $7,500,000,000 arms program.

In spite of increases, neither the navy nor the army will be so great as those of 1914, he said.

"The expansion is in the new arm —the air....In the view of practically every soul in this country, we should have an air force of immense power.

"Anti-aircraft defense demands large sums of money. This is a far more serious matter than it was during the last war."

Typical of opposition attacks was the statement of Sir Stafford Cripps, Laborite: "We are witnessing the most magnificent subscription to a world suicide pact ever publicized by any country in the world."

to my condition. My father was more than a parents—we were the closest of friends.

"For a long time I had been planning to marry Mary, but didn't know exactly when.

"But after I had packed up and made my reservation on the plane to return to Mexico City, I suddenly told her I would like to get married.

"I don't remember whether I said: 'Let's go to Yuma,' or "let's get married in Yuma.'

"She liked the idea.

"So we called up a friend of hers and got him to fly us to Yuma. We left the Union Terminal in Los Angeles at 12:30 Thursday morning. It was about 3 when we go to Yuma.

"We were married by Judge Henry C. Kelly. His sister, Miss Kelly, and a chauffeur were our witnesses.

"From Yuma we drove to Mexicali, and there I said good-bye to Mary and took the plane for Mexico City. Everything went off like clockwork."

ing year with the following men named: President, William E. Trick; vice president, John G. Moore; secretary-treasurer, Edward J. Ryan.

During the speaking program President Pritchard asked the crowd to stand in silence for a minute in tribute to the members who had passed on during the past few years. The most recent one was City Policeman Robert Dukes.

Telegrams of regret were read from Paul Donnelly and Edward Reese of Sharon, Arthur J. Howell of Harrisburg and J. Garfield Davis at Sayrre. They are all members but could not get to this year's reunion. Pep singing was directed by David Jones who also presided at the piano. Several solos were presented by Chester Biddle.

The organization went on record as being opposed to the Eroe Ripper bill which would deprive Lawrence county of one of its judges. The vote on the resolution was unanimous.

If a foreign-born citizen brags excessively about the old country you can ask him why he doesn't go back. But you can't do that with the native who boasts of the good old days.

half hour, when with a roar the shell exploded. His right arm was torn off by the shrapnel.

While the injured were being given first aid the Wyoming hurriedly headed for Los Angeles and steamed at force draft to the hospital ship relief, at anchor here, to which the dead and injured were transferred.

Heroism Is Shown

Heroism of a man tentatively identified as chief gunner's mate Berry, was credited with preventing an even greater disaster.

A 30-pound bag of powder was hurled to the deck by the explosion and lay there amid the flames.

Risking his life, Berry grabbed the powder and carried it to safety.

The Wyoming arrived at San Diego January 25, with a contingent of marines from Quantico, Va. She is commanded by Capt. C. N. Rinkmap.

Commissioned in 1912, the Wyoming is one of the navy's oldest active vessels. In 1930 most of her big guns were removed in compliance with the naval treaty.

On board the Wyoming during the explosion were Brig. Gen. J. J. Meade, commanding the first marine brigade and Rear Admiral William H. Stanley, U. S. N., retired, former chief of naval operations.

Although there were a variety of theories to account for the explosion the generally credited one was that the shell was defective.

a heavy offensive by airplanes, tanks and cavalry."

While awaiting reinforcements for the siege of Madrid, the rebels pursued relentless aerial warfare around the capital.

Planes Shot Down.

Ten government airplanes were brought down in aerial combats and by gun-fire around Madrid, it was announced at Salamanca.

Three more loyalist airplanes were destroyed and two were damaged in a rebel raid on the Tardite airdrome on the Aragon front, Salamanca said.

Loyalists claimed seven rebel planes were shot down around Madrid in the last two days.

Telling of the large rebel reinforcements being moved up to the Jarama battlefields, the loyalist Spanish Press Agency said:

"Fighting on the Jarama river front is the most severe since the war began. The republicans are continuing their furious counter-attack. The insurgents have five lines of trenches, of which the front lines in several places have been captured by the republicans, who found large numbers of rebel dead."

Rebel columns marching towards Almeria from Malaga on the southern seacoast have met the loyalist defenders, and the sides are now locked in battle.

dred sit-down strikers, who refused to recognize a court order evacuating them, came when 25 officers approached by railroad tracks in an effort to smash a rear door.

One of the strikers hurled a bottle of acid. This was the signal for a general outburst.

Use Tear Gas Bombs

The deputies showered the buildings with tear gas bombs. One officer was accidentally burned when a bomb exploded prematurely.

In retaliation, the strikers rigged up an acid spray, but it lacked sufficient force to harm the corps of police. Hurling of heavy objects ensued.

Several shots rang out, it was reported, but it could not be determined immediately by whom they had been fired.

During the lull which followed the first foray, from which no casualties were reported, the deputies brought up a heavy battering ram with which to smash in doors the strikers have nailed shut.

Sheriff Doolittle was armed with a court order naming 91 strikers and directing him to bring them into court to show cause why they should not be cited for contempt in their refusal to obey the evacuation order.

CAUGHT WRONG PARTY

MUNICH—Because he "caught" himself, Joseph Weismuller, a 64-year-old habitual poacher, is spending a year in prison. He had set nets and traps for pheasants near Neuburg on the Danube. When going to collect his catches, he became entangled in his own nets. He remained imprisoned until he was rescued by the local game warden. The pheasants are now free—but Wiesmuller is in prison.

Edwin Orr, of Ulster, Ireland, started on a missionary tour with only nine cents in his pocket. Since then he has preached his way around the world, and sometimes had a little more than his original capital. He is back in London, his starting point, and preaching to throngs.

NICHOLAS CASILLO PROVIDES PROGRAM

Possessed of very keen descriptive powers, both the writings and personal adventure recitals of Nicholas Casillo, member of the high school faculty are extremely interesting, and so when he appeared before the Junior Woman's club Thursday evening the girls enjoyed a rare treat.

Held in the home of Marion Campbell on East Moody avenue, the meeting was one of the best of the season, for there was a large attendance to hear the speaker.

Mr. Casillo related personal experiences of himself and a college classmate on a cross country trip which they had while both were still in college.

Leaving school in the east, one Easter vacation, they started out on a jaunt which ended up like a regular wild west thriller. They journeyed to Seattle, Wash., where quite by accident they were privileged to take a steamer excursion into Alaska to Ketchikan, where they remained for sometime.

Employment was found in the salmon canneries, and later they engaged in salmon trapping, and in one instance, Mr. Casillo's listeners held their breath while he recounted his own narrow escape from one of the traps in the far off desolute and lonely country.

Mr. Casillo has written many magazine articles, all of which rank high in sportsmen and nature circles, for sports and nature are his hobbies.

The speaker was introduced lsat night by Mary E. Wilson, president, who conducted a short business session previously. The next meeting will take place March 4 at the home of Martha McGill, Garfield avenue.

Attractive tallies which were the handiwork of Oak street school students, under the direction of Miss Frances Carlon, art teacher, were clever as they carried colorful pictures of various types of homes. Prizes were given at the individual tables to high score holders.

THE PUBLIC SPEAKS

WHOLLY apart from its effect on our system of checks and balances, President Roosevelt's plan to reorganize the Supreme Court has had the effect of arousing public feeling as it seldom is aroused. Not since prohibition and the League of Nations has a more controversial issue been placed before a startled country and the Congress. The keen interest Mr. Roosevelt's proposal has inspired may be gauged by the eagerness of the people to register their views in the press and with their representatives at Washington.

In restaurants, trains, whenever men and women gather, conversation these last few days inevitably has turned to the administration's plan to enlarge the court. The weather, the market and the small concerns, large to every individual, have been subordinate, it seems, to the conflict set in motion by Mr. Roosevelt's maneuver to attain New Deal objectives. The folks back home have taken a hand in the game to a degree that has astonished beholders who believed public interest in government was casual, save for one day a year, the Tuesday after the first Monday in November, and sometimes even then.

Viewing and pointing has become a national enterprise and resolutions are being passed faster than traffic lights. In many states Legislatures have side-tracked local problems to debate, denounce or indorse Mr. Roosevelt's plan. It is all surprising (though it ought not to be) and salutary. The only regrettable feature is it doesn't happen more often. Government all around would be markedly improved if the public were equally vocal about problems which seem less vital.

SHANGHAI GESTURE

The American picture of the average Chinese is that of an impoverished soul for whom life is a continuing struggle, who is beset on all sides by ruthless elements—flood, drought, famine, war and pillage—and who does little more than exist until his span of years is run.

And this is largely an accurate picture of the great masses in China, wealth and even a primitive degree of comfort being reserved for the few. This oldest of civilized nations is one in which life is a difficult business at best.

And it is because of these conditions that the movement in Shanghai to raise $60,000 for the flood sufferers in the United States warms our hearts with gratitude. In the past, Chinese recall, America has been unfailingly generous with its aid when disasters in various forms have overtaken their land.

At a time when there are few enough evidences of good feeling among nations, when help in past times of crises has been forgotten and when enmity and bitterness are widespread, this Chinese gesture is touching and heartening.

BRITAIN GIRDS FOR EVENTUALITIES

Unlike Russia, Great Britain has candidly admitted all along that she is re-arming to the limit of her seeming needs, if not her resources, and she has exceeded Germany, Italy and France in making public the details of this preparation. Hence, her latest announcement of definite war defense is surprising only in its extent, although dismaying in the frank assumption that conflict soon is taken for granted.

On this side of the Atlantic there can be little protest that the British are now committed to a record peace-time arms program. Since 1918 London has taken a leading part in negotiations seeking to assuage international friction and avoid another war. Britain can be exonerated of any ideas of aggression. Petty bickering has been absent in her trans-channel relations. Yet the frankly-voiced British policy during the recent increasingly strained years has been that, if mediation efforts failed, she must and would take full steps for self-protection.

So in publicizing the start of a $7,500,000,000 re-arming effort, whose expense in a single year will be double the entire cost of the Government during the last year before the World War, Britain will triple her normal defense outlay for five years, attaining air, land and sea forces ready for any eventuality.

The announcement, intended to be read in Berlin and Rome, also, no doubt, in Moscow, Tokio and Paris, emphasizes that the navy will get most attention, in order to defend British possessions in every quadrant of the globe. The army will be somewhat increased, but apparently for home defense chiefly. The three new battleships will make only twenty-seven knots, corresponding to American and Japanese craft, and their guns will be only fourteen inches, the former treaty limit, instead of the sixteen inches expected next in Tokio. It is in the air that John Bull will take his most impressive strides in his five-year plan.

With new aircraft carriers and seaplanes, at least seventy-five more air training stations and airdromes, a swelling of the aviation personnel far beyond the 1936 figure of 50,000, and the addition of perhaps 10,000 war planes, the British will have seemingly ample home and colony protection, even if participation in continental imbroglios is never demanded. For, despite the latest unreliable pact on non-intervention in Spain, the grimmest possibilities must be kept in mind. England is doing this.

That is, any boy may become President unless he happens to pick a dumb publicity agent.

It's beginning to look as though Franco's boys are not going to tear down Madrid's goal posts.

Something seems to be wrong with the most recent history of the World War. It doesn't show that the conflict was won by Lloyd George.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

STRAIGHTENING TEETH

Many children must go through the long, long arduous siege of having their teeth straightened". Usually it consists of wearing braces on the upper or lower teeth or both, with a spreader between one or both jaws to widen the jaw and pull the teeth into proper alignment. My own three children had to endure this program, the youngest not quite finished. The corrective period lasts from two to five years. My heart often ached for these children during these trying years.

After the work has been done successfully, the child is very grateful. What a difference to his appearance and effectiveness of speech!

But it is expensive and, unfortunately, many parents whose children need such dental care cannot afford it. However, many who could, neglect the child because they fail to realize what it would mean to him. In Stockholm, Sweden, last summer, I visited a dental clinic endowed by a benefactor of the United States, in which this sort of work was free to children who could not afford to have it done.

However, the biggest expense is to the child. The braces are so uncomfortable and annoying, especially in the early period of the corrective work, and the nervous strain on the child is terrific.

Makes Child Irritable.

You parents who have a child so treated must have observed how irritable and excitable he was after the braces were put on, or even following each periodic readjustment. Then is the time for you to be peculiarly calm and kind and considerate of the child. You will want to report to your dentist from time to time, urging him, in many instances, to proceed more slowly. Many orthodontists tighten the braces too much on each visit. They need to extend the program over a longer period, even though the financial cost will thereby be rendered greater to you.

In most of these cases the child is expected to wear rubber bands hooked between his jaws. They add to his discomfort, and since they must be removed when he eats, he is likely to forget to replace them. As a result, progress in the correction is greatly delayed, and the child abused, perhaps, for his negligence.

The tactful dentist may easily win the child's co-operation, especially with the aid of sympathetic, co-operative parents. Although we parents naturally assume that the child should take responsibility for proper use of the rubber bands, I believe we should remind him kindly of the bands at the proper intervals, with the attitude that we bear some of this responsibility.

YOU PRAY!

I KNOW you do. Perhaps not formally. Perhaps not with words. Perhaps not as other people do. But you pray.

You have been lonely and you have prayed for a friend. You have prayed you might find somewhere that man or woman who is your other self. You have stood in a gray corridor somewhere, in some hospital, just outside the door of an operating room, and prayed that everything would be all right. Prayed a child might be born and a mother might not suffer too much. Prayed that operation might be successful. Prayed it might not be as bad as you've been fearing.

You have prayed your children might not need to endure some of the trials that have come upon you. Or prayed they might be strong enough to stand a little more sturdily than you think you have. You have prayed they might have courage and cheerful audacity and not too much hard wisdom—but wisdom enough to carry them through.

You have prayed. Surely you have. There have been times when you felt:

"I can't do this all alone. The strength I know is not great enough. Somehow I must reach out and touch something mightier than I am or will ever be—and draw some of its strength to myself. I must reach out to that which is just beyond my grasp on common days and thus be strong enough to endure."

You have done that. Everyone has done it. . . . And sometimes you have prayed when you did not know you were in deed. You have seen something very beautiful. A tall tree. A splendid dawn. A sweep of meadow in the midst. A glowing sunset. Or some heart-taking deed. And that small egotism by which we live our daily lives has been broken in two by that beauty and you have offered some kind of prayer, all by yourself. A cleansing, humbled sort of prayer nobody ever put into words.

Everybody prays. Not everybody knows he does.

Some day the people in this country are going to get tired of having a lot of yeggs kill policemen. In the past twenty five years there have been a number of local policemen killed in line of duty. The next one that gets the electric chair will be the first one.

Maybe our trouble is that we're old fashioned. We still think that a lot of reform could be achieved among crooks if a well seasoned section of gas pipe was properly applied. Some day we hope this country will be rid of a lot of sniveling sentimentalists who make heroes out of gorillas who should have been strangled at birth.

DON'T be a coaxer! Ask once or twice and if you get an unfavorable response, be on your way!

If you have ever been around when a coaxer is "doing his stuff" you will know how annoying it is to hear over and over again, "Aw, come on, go with us. You can wash your hair later. Be a sport. Come on."

Anyone who refuses an invitation twice means it. If she wants to accept she will say "yes" the second time. Sometimes the first "no" is a little doubtful, and you may give her a second chance. Dear Miss Markel—When stopping at a hotel, is it proper to tip the bell boys, porters, etc., each time service is rendered, or at the expiration of one's stay? How much should be given to bell boys and porters? TRAVELER.

Answer—When staying at a large transient hotel, guests should tip when service is rendered. If you are a resident guest at a small family hotel you may give a weekly gratuity to those who perform regular services for you. Ten or 15 cents is an average tip to a bellboy. If you send him on an errand outside of the hotel, 25 cents should be given.

A porter or bell boy should receive 25 cents for carrying your baggage to or from your room. If there are two or three pieces, 50 cents should be given.

Believes President Stronger. Tories In Dangerous Spot. Do Lobbyists Control Legislatures?

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Columnist

PERHAPS sentiment is shifting from President Roosevelt throughout the country, as some papers and commentators say — but this column's observers find no evidence of it.

It may seem strange to many persons, but our observers believe that if the president had not taken his supreme court action, he would have weakened himself.

IN BRITAIN

Observers of British trends believe there may be an upset there within a year — the Tories finally being overturned.

The British people are becoming tired of the Tory foreign policy. Hitler and Mussolini clearly have outmaneuvered the Baldwin cabinet on every issue. Britain is humiliated.

Besides which, the British worker is beginning to growl for a New Deal. There is prosperity in England, but it is not so widely diffused as the populace would have it.

LEGISLATURES

The Roosevelt administration makes no secret that it believes many state legislatures are controlled by lobbyists, thus preventing ratification of amendments to the federal constitution.

Unicameral — one-house — legislatures, such as Senator George Norris obtained for Nebraska, eventually may be the solution.

Utility corporations have spent hube sums maintaining representatives at state capitals.

MURPHY ON BENCH?

Incidentally, Gov. Frank Murphy of Michigan may be offered any supreme court vacancy.

Then, again, he may be needed in Michigan — to keep it in the Democratic column.

After all, Michigan has a 1940 Republican presidential potentiality, in whom there is state pride, Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg.

STREETS

Hundreds of miles of streets were ruined in cities that were inundated by the flood.

The majority of cities have not enough funds to make repairs. They cannot even match funds with the federal government.

Congressmen representing those communities are a power in Washington. The cities probably will get the money to repair their streets. But no satisfactory solution seems to have been reached concerning the small home dweller, the small businessman, wiped out.

TWO NEW SHIPS

Two new cargo ships—of large tonnage—are to be built for Great Lakes' traffice. Once that would barely have been news. Today it is. No new cargo carriers of any size have been built for Great Lakes' use since 1929. The new vessels are for the Pittsburgh Steamship company (headquarters, Cleveland), a subsidiary of the United States Steel corporation.

They will be paid for out of funds acquired in the profitable sale last year, to independent operators, of outmoded steamers.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

BECOMING COMMUNISTIC.

In the Thirteen States which united themselves into the Union known as the United States of America, work and play on the Sabbath, commonly known as Sunday, the First Day of the Week, were very unlawful. A weak brother might take a chance and try to catch a fish or two in a secluded pool, but as to plowing, harvesting and putting away in barns on a Sabbath, it simply was not done. Nor is it today in those same Thirteen, to any extent. Golf and tennis are played. Swimming and fishing are done. Drug stores are open and even newspapers are sold, but no workman builds a building and no farmer pursues his calling.

Travel west from the boundaries of the Thirteen and a much different attitude is found in the remaining thirty-five States. So far from the precepts of the Fathers have these wayward sons strayed that it is often difficult to recognize the Sabbath at all.

A farmer of the Middle West sent to the editor of his weekly paper the following in reply to an editorial comment on keeping the Sabbath:

"I have a field of corn I plowed on Sunday. I planted the corn on Sunday. I did all the cultivating on Sundays. I cut the corn on a Sunday and hauled in into the barn next Sunday and find that I have more corn per acre than any of my neighbors during this October."

The editor in publishing this added this crisp N. B.:

"God does not always settle his accounts in October."

That may be well for others to remember who break all of the Ten Commandments in defiance of the Biblical Law.

THE GRADUATE

He knew the books from A to Z,
He knew the world's geography.
They had examined him and found
His mathematics fairly sound,
And wholly satisfied by that
They let him wear a tasseled hat.
They boasted that they'd trained his mind
To solve the problems of mankind.

I wondered as I heard them talk
If they had taught the boy to walk
Alone the length of any street
Prepared to face what he might meet?
'Twixt work and pleasure could he choose;
Know which to take and which refuse?
Had he the proper way been shown
To solve small problems of his own?

What did he know of wrong and right?
When to submit and when to fight?
If urges dishonest steps to take,
What answer would the youngster make?
Could he see selfish seekers gain
And choose unselfish to remain?
He knew the books, but did he know
How slowly men in stature grow?

Had he been taught the upward way
Is taken step by step each day?
Had he this small discovery made,
The easiest jobs are poorest paid?
Had he been taught what men expect,
Admire and happily respect?
If so, above the drifting throng
That boy will rise ere very long.

Present Awards To Bus Drivers

Two Drivers Have Had No Accident In Ten Years

HONORED AT SAFETY BANQUET

Presentation of awards to five interrurban bus operators for exceptional safety records completed in the year 1936 marked the annual safety banquet of Penn-Ohio Coach Lines Company Thursday evening at the Youngstown Club, Youngstown.

To two of the operators Vice President and General Manager D. S. James presented jeweled rings as awards for having completed ten years without transportation accident. These men are Alvin Miller and W. E. Smith, both of the Youngstown-Niles-Warren interurban line.

To the other three men, all operators on the Cleveland-Akron-Canton line, gold watches were presented as awards for having completed five years similarly free of accident. These men are W. J. Fenchel, A. C. Jefferys and R. M. Johnstone.

The banquet was given in honor of the 55 operators, out of a total of 57, who went through either the first half or the second half of 1936 without transportation accident. Of these 55 men 52 have five or more accident-free years to their credit. One man, B. P. James, has completed twelve consecutive years without an accident, operating busses in that time for a total of 612,500 miles. Two men, Miller and Smith, who received the ring awards last night, have ten accident-free years to their credit; six have nine years, four more have eight years, eight have seven years, five have six years and six have five years of similarly safe records.

Wives of the operators and officials of Penn-Ohio Coach Lines Company joined with the men in the banquet and entertainment in celebration of their fine safety records

Today Is The Day

It's True—the "First Robin" stories are appearing. Migratory birds fly north as Spring comes faster than they go South. Northward, they average 50 miles a day; Southward, 30 miles.

Canvasbacks are the fastest of the ducks; they came make 72 m. p. You can always tell them at a distance from black ducks, which move slowly—from 10 to 30 m. p. m.

The U. S. S. R. government is not Communist. This will be a blow to Earl Browder, considering that Alexander Troyanovsky, Russian ambassador to the U. S. says so. He defines it as a Socialist State. Heinrich Karl Marx, the Jewish-born baptized Christian, collected the material for Das Kapital, the Communist Bible, in the British Museum, London, while making his living as a correspondent for the ultra-conservative Republican New York Tribune.

Pacific Coast visitors are the most liberal tippers, New York hotel bellboys agree. Middlewesterners are poor, and New Yorkers the worst. But Americans in general are better tippers than Europeans.

Nowadays it seems that women marry in haste and repeat in leisure.

Lehigh Portland Cement company to Richard A. Bailey, fourth ward, $15000.

It now appears there will be three parties represented on the ballot in the next election instead of just two as had been supposed. According to the county commissioners office, the Royal Oak party polled the necessary two per cent of the vote in November, 1936, to entitle them to placing on the ballot.

The ballots in the 1937 election will have the names of the Democratic, Republican and Royal Oak parties on, in the order named. The Prohibitionists, Socialists, Socialist-Labor, Communist and other parties failed to poll the necessary two per cent and will not appear.

If any of the parties named polled five per cent or more of the vote in the municipal election two years ago they would be entitled to placing on the ticket but this did not occur.

In the office of Prothonotary and Clerk of Courts John A. Edgar the First National bank of Ellwood City has filed an amicable scire facias against Devona E. Ketterer and William G. Ketterer for $497 with interest from January 24, 1937.

Josephine Dennis files a libel in divorce from her husband, Joe Dennis, alleging desertion. They were married in Warren, O., June 19, 1923.

Your county tax cards will soon be handed you. With the millage set at 9½, clerks are now busy figuring what you owe to the county and shortly you will have the sad news.

Not many people are registering in the office of Thomas C. Edmunds, chief clerk of the registration bureau, according to his statement. Hundreds of young men and women have come of age in the past three months, it is thought, but apparently they have not yet thought about registering to vote.

It is possible that one of the new precincts proposed for the fourth ward may not be added. Some complaint has been made and one of the precincts may be dropped. Unfortunately the rumor has gotten around that the change in precincts will cost several thousands dollars in fees to various people. This is utterly absurd. No engineers were hired nor were viewers, all work being done by Mr. Edmunds. The idea back of the division is to make every precinct appproximately 500 votes.

Hints On Etiquette

An invitation to a church wedding is solely for the ceremony. If the guest is to be invited for a wedding breakfast, or to a reception afterwards, a separate invitation must be enclosed.

Sought To Smuggle Pint Of "Moonie" Into City Jail Inside Bread

Gene Connors attempted to smuggle a pint of "Moonie" to an incarcerated friend at the city jail, failed last night because of Patrolman W. G. McMullen's sharp eye. As a result Gene was given a cell alongside of his friend. He is yet in jail.

Hearing that a friend was in jail, and, no doubt, believing that a "wee drop or two" would help his friend to forget his bed of iron and incarceration Gene decided to act.

He got the pint of "Moonie" and then how to get it past the alert guardians of law and order caused Gene's brain to do flipflops.

"Ah, I've got it" Gene thought and accordingly secured a loaf of bread.

He cut open the loaf of bread and inserted the bottle of "Moonie". In other words he made a "Moonie sandwich."

With it beneath his arm he applied to Sergeant James Steiner at police headquarters last night for permission to give a loaf of bread to his friend.

"You cannot" replied Steiner.

Patrolman McMullen who was standing in the police station eyed the bread. It appeared suspicious.

He took the bread, discovered the cached bottle of "Moonie". Gene was arrested and the "Moonie sandwich" confiscated.

McIntyre Relates How Escape From Decapitation Affected New Yorker

TUNNEY LUCKY PLAYING CARDS

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—Thoughts while strolling: They are calling the globe-trotting newspaper gal, Dorothy Kilgallen, another Dorothy Parker. Harry Burton and Ray Bolger could pass for twins in a fog. Add up a flounce, a ruffle and a curtsey and you have Miriam Hopkins.

O. O. McIntyre

Big pout in the editorial shops: Between Harold Ross, of the New Yorker, and Henry Luce, of Time. How to make a columnist blush—read his first column at a party. What's become of the Duke of Manchester? Memo to Bob Burns: Fewer chestnuts, please. Radio's No. 1 in-and-outer—A. Woollcott.

Rhymes: None leaps so lightly over a chair as dancing, prancing Fred Astaire. And: Wherever there's din you'll find Erskine Gwynne. Arthur Hopkins with sideburns would be a perfect ringer for John Bull. Crack sports page cartooning: That of Burris Jenkins, Jr.

Movie memory: Virginia Valli and Pat O'Mally. And how many remember the school slate bound in red felt and dangling a smelly sponge on a string? The gentleman who hands out the auto licenses and who is touted for mayor: Commissioner Harnett.

Picturesque old timer: Dex Fellowes of the circus. Never see a meerschaum pipe with a chamois covering any more. Nobody tops Floyd Gibbons in packing excitement into his voice. Nothing makes a fellow so self conscious along the street as soft, mocking laughter behind.

True to beginner's luck form: Gene Tunney played in his first poker game recently after the game was patiently explained to him in detail. He was the only winner. And Herbert Bayard Swope, no less, was one of the players, too.

I know a man who escaped decapitation by an eyelash in a sudden drop of an elevator into whose shaft he was peering. He went home limp and adrip with a perspiration so offensive he had to burn every article of clothing, including his shoes. It recalls an article Rufus Steele once wrote on an odd psychological perfume generated by fear in the diamond back rattler. Ordinarily the aroma from the diamond back is similar to sweet apples, pleasantly aromatic. But aroused by the fright of an approaching enemy, it fills the air for a mile around with an unbearable stench.

Then, that relative—a cousin as I recall—of Warwick Deeping, the author, who awoke one night in the room of an isolated inn along a bleak stretch of the Cornish coast. He lit a candle and standing over him was a wild-eyed maniac with an upraised broad axe. A sudden scream caused the mad-man to turn and run. The victim at his shaving mirror next day discovered a faint blotch on his neck. Under inspection it had the outline of an upraised axe in blood red and remained a permanent token of his terrorizing experience.

Also there is the odd impress so often expressed in mass thought in a given area. A returning visitor from London tells of the blank despair that settled on London the night of the king's take off. In thousands of restaurants food was ordered and untouched. One play sold but 37 admissions to foreigners. Strangest of all, patients in hospitals whose conditions did not permit them to know their sovereign was thinking of quitting his throne, in almost every instance, grew more feverish and restless during the night. Similarly there was much unrest in hospitals everywhere durinig the Ohio valley floods.

New York has had three sets of caterers who ran successfully in double harness. The first were John and Cristo who ruled over the dining at old Reisenweber's in Columbus Circle and afterward at various popular haunts. Later, they split and John became the maitre d'hotel of a Hollywood restaurant. The more recent team-up consists of Jack and Charlie who conduct the widely three-sheeted "No. 21." And more successful still were Gene and Ernest who presided over the most exclusive restaurant perhaps of all—The Colony—until Ernest's recent passing.

Jitter julep: Lynn Fontanne tells of the confused jay walker near the Ritz receiving a cop's quick push toward a curb. Turning, he pip-squeaked: "See here, who do you push I am if a tax payer is all I hope!" And that was tellin' him!

Newspaperman Says Mary Astor Married

(International News Service)

YUMA, Ariz., Feb. 19.—"Sure Mary Astor is married. I ought to know, I covered two of her secret weddings."

With these words Lamont Odett, International News Service staff correspondent Thursday entered an emphatic counter statement to the film star's assertion in Hollywood, that she did not wed Manuel Del Campo here.

"I got there just as she and Del Campo were coming out of the judge's house," Odett said.

"I did the same thing in 1931 when she married Dr. Franklyn Thorpe here. That was a "secret' wedding, too."

Sketches Of Modern Auto Trailers In Book At Public Library

With spring just around the corner, and the possibility that more "Tin Can" tourists will be on the roads this year than ever before, the free public library has displayed a helpful and instructive booklet entitled "How To Build An Auto Trailer".

This book is placed on the main desk of the library where "books you would like" are placed each week. It contains plans, sketches and ideas for the construction of a modern auto trailer.

Without a doubt this year will see more moving homes on the road than ever before, and it is with this in mind that the library is featuring this book which might prove exceedingly handy to some local citizen. Now is the time when construction should be started in order that the family will be able to "pull stakes" and hit the road early during the summer months.

SOCIAL STUDIES TEACHING VITAL

HARRISBURG, Feb. 19.—Lester K. Ade, superintendent of the Department of Public Instruction, today said the public schools must offer an adequate program of social studies.

"The current trend toward a more active participation by youths and adults in the civic affairs of the community, state and nation, place an important responsibility on the public schools to develop an adequate program of learning in the field of social studies," he said.

"Based on the principle that the civic conduct of an individual is determined by his attitudes, interests and ideals as well as by his general information, the department seeks to lay the foundations for desirable civic conduct and to give the knowledge and develop the ideals upon which good citizenship is built.

FIND WARRANT FOR TINIEST LOT

HARRISBURG—Employes in the bureau of land records in the Department of Internal Affairs have found what is believed to be a warrant for the smallest piece of land ever issued in the commonwealth, Secretary of Internal Affairs Thomas A. Logue announced today.

In making searches for certain records, the warrant, dated in 1822, was uncovered. It covers a tract of land containing one and six-tenths perches, the equivalent of 435.6 square feet, slightly larger than a living room that would be 20 feet square. The tract is located in Juniata county but at the time the warrant was issued the land was part of Milford township, Mifflin county, Juniata county having been created in 1831 from a part of Mifflin county.

According to Oregon law, the loser in a gambling game in that state may sue and recover from the winner double the amount he lost.

Will Prosecute Dog Owners Who Ignore Tag Law

Kittanning Agent Here To Warn Residents — Returns Next Week

New Castle and Lawrence county dog owners had better get their pups licensed and quick.

John A. Mateer, Kittanning, in charge of enforcement of the dog laws for the state, came to the district Thursday and began a campaign of prosecution. Mateer today warned dog owners he's here "to remind them you must get tags" and would return next week to check in different neighborhoods.

"I don't want to prosecute anybody," said the enforcement agent, "but I've got to if they ignore the law".

After a hurried investigation here, Mateer reported that "many owners haven't taken out tags as yet."

He will likely return to New Castle Monday to begin his prosecutions.

Bewhiskered Dolls To Be Seen In Museums Shortly

Dolls Fashioned After Pennsylvania Dutch Styles To Be Placed In Museum

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA—Visitors to museums and libraries in all of the 48 states soon may view dolls with whiskers, whose quaint costumes are authentic reproductions of the dress of "the plain people" of the Pennsylvania Dutch country.

The dolls, fashioned by Mrs. Marie Pollack, of York, Pa., were inspired by the Mennonites, the Amish and the Brethren folk who dwell in the southeastern section of Pennsylvania. Religious beliefs of these people decree that they live simple lives and wear plain clothes.

While their living counterparts infrequently travel far from their native hearthside, doll sets of father, mother, sons and daughters of these rugged people soon are to tour the United States. Mrs. Pollack revealed she spent months of research to insure her dolls' costume being authentic. So faithful are these reproductions of style, she said, professors and students of history are using them for reference in their class work.

Part Of British Colonial Vessel Believed Found

Believe Portion Of Old British Ship Unearthed By Wharf Workmen

(International News Service)

LACONIA, N. H.—The British man o' war "Fearless" that patrolled Lake Winnipesaukee during Colonial Days 200 years ago has long since gone the way of foundered ships, but what is believed to be part of a rib of the craft has been unearthed on Lone Pine Island.

Workmen driving piling for a new wharf turned up the nameplate of the "Fearless". They also discovered several old muskets and cutlasses and a large cannon.

A glance at the history books revealed that the "Fearless," under command of Sir Alton Wolfeborough, patrolled Winnipesaukee waters in colonial days, mysteriously disappearing shortly after the Declaration of Independence.

Nearby lake towns of Alton and Wolfeboro are said to have derived their names from the commander of the "Fearless."

Auto Fatalities Show Increase

Half Of Deaths Caused By Motor Vehicles Were Among Pedestrians

MANY CRASHES AT INTERSECTIONS

HARRISBURG, Feb. 19.—Pedestrians struck down on streets and highways accounted for half the deaths caused by motor vehicles in Pennsylvania in 1936, Secretary of Revenue John B. Kelly declared today.

Figures tabulated in the annual report of the division of safety of the Department of Revenue emphasize the fact that a person walking on the highway is the most likely one to receive a fatal injury from an automobile.

The report shows that 1,180 persons died as a result of 12,110 collisions between automobiles and pedestrians while a total of 43,617 automobile accidents of all other types including collisions with street cars, trains and other automobiles resulted in only 1,231 deaths, a grand total of 2,411 fatalities.

Thirty per cent of the accidents involving pedestrians occurred when cars collided with persons who were crossing between intersections. Persons crossing from behind parked automobiles contributed 18 per cent of the total. Pedestrians crossing at intersections, in many cases against traffic signals or cutting diagonally across intersections, accounted for 17.5 per cent of the total. Persons walking on rural highways contributed 16.8 per cent of the total while 15 per cent of the accidents involve.. persons walking or children playing in the street.

Inattentive Pedestrians

Inattentive pedestrians were responsible for 64 per cent of the total while confused and intoxicated pedestrians respectively accounted for 13 per cent and 9 per cent of the accidents.

Approximately 50 per cent of the accidents reported during 1936 happened on the open road. However, a greater percentage of fatal accidents occurred in urban than in rural districts.

Street intersections accounted for more accidents during 1936 than any other location, with 26 per cent of the total listed at this point. Twenty-four per cent of the collisions happened on straight stretches of rural highway, 23 per cent between intersections in cities and towns, 12 per cent on curves, 6 per cent on hills and 5 per cent at rural intersections.

Accidents More Severe

Increased use of the highways as indicated by increased motor vehicle registration and gasoline consumption is reflected in the increase in the total number of accidents which occurred in 1936. The total for the year was 55,727 motor vehicle accidents against 52,157 in 1934 and 49,930 in 1935.

The figures indicate, however, a marked increase in the severity of accidents as shown by a sharp rise in the death rate ano in the estimated damage to vehicles and other property.

The deaths for the year totalled 2,411, an increase of 524 over the preceding year while the property damage totalled $7,948,900, an increase of one million dollars over 1935.

Few Intoxicated Drivers

The number of operators figuring in accidents during the past year totalled 91,055. All of the operators with the exception of 5,049 were residents of Pennsylvania. Ninety-one per cent of the drivers indicated in their reports that they had at least one year's experience.

An analysis of the condition of the operators shows that 74 per cent of those involved in accidents were apparently normal. Of the others, 16 per cent were inattentive, 4 per cent confused, 3 per cent were driving with an obstructed view, and 2 per cent were apparently intoxicated.

Fifty-nine per cent of the operators involved in accidents were apparently driving with due respect for the law. Fifteen per cent were driving too fast for conditions, 9 per cent were operating on the wrong side of the road, 3 per cent were accused of cutting in front of other vehicles, 2 per cent failed to signal and 2 per cent failed to stop at a "stop sign".

Saturday Most Dangerous

Although the highest accident hour was between 4 and 5 p. m., the greatest number of accidents of the more serious nature occurred between the hours of 7 and 8 p. m. More accidents were reported on Saturday than any other day of the week, while the fewest accidents occurred on Tuesday.

YEARBOOK ISSUED

HARRISBURG — A booklet of seventy pages entitled "Current Events Yearbook" for 1936-1937, has been prepared for use in the public schools, it was stated today by Dr. Lester K. Ade, Superintendent of Public Instruction.

"This new publication contains late information on such subjects as the League of Nations, area and population, lists of Congressmen, Governors, Ambassadors, and biographical sketches of famous people" Dr. Ade said.

Spanish Rebels Capture Britons

About 35 Britons Captured, Were Forced To Take Up Arms Prisoners Say

(International News Service)

TALAVERA DE LA REINA, Spain Feb. 19—Rebels captured 35 Britons in fighting on the Jarama front south of Madrid during the past few days, the insurgent command announced today.

The prisoners revealed, according to the rebels, that they had gone to Spain to work as agricultural laborers and that they had been "forced" to take up arms in the Loyalist forces.

One of the "agricultural workers" refused to fight, and thereupon was shot, the rebels announced. They said the other Britons, fearing similar threatment, preferred to take their chances fighting.

At Avila foreign militiamen captured by the rebels disclosed their battalion was reduced by one half in an artillery bombardment Tuesday night. This was the battalion in which 13 "North Americans" were reported killed or captured.

Asks Divorce On Husband's Motto

(International News Service)

"I am just the age when I am going to have a good time," Shubin was asserted to have told her. "Just because one man says we are man and wife does not make it so. Go out and have a good time like I do."

He once threw a brick at her, Mrs. Shubin alleged.

Veteran Editor Starts 60th Year

"Jim" Borland Of Franklin Reports For Duty As Usual

FRANKLIN, Pa., Feb. 19.—James B. Borland, 76, managing editor of the "News Herald," reporting for duty as usual at his editorial office today, entered upon his sixtieth year as publisher of the paper he founded in February, 1878, as a four-page sheet printed on an old "army" press.

"The years and many friends have been kind to me; I have much to be thankful for," Borland, regarded as dean of oil country newspapermen, said.

His motto always has been, "Get the news today, but keep it accurate and clean."

The years have slowed up some of his endeavors, but he continues to edit a column, surpervise the exchanges and is a living source of information of the yesterdays.

The paper he and two other boys started never has missed an edition.

Next Session Of Training School Tuesday Next Week

Interest Shown In Leadership Training School At First Christian Church

Splendid interest and attendance for the second session of the Leadership Training school sponsored by the Lawrence County Sabbath School association being held at the First Christian church, New Castle, was shown Tuesday evening.

Rev. Merrill Cadwell continued his course on "Christian Ethics" and in addition to the lecture, time was taken for a discussion on the interesting questions that were developed. The instructor for the second lesson of the second course was Rev. J. Ralph Neale, pastor of the New Wilmington U. P. church, and his theme, as a part of the "Great Christian Doctrines" was "Anthropology, the nature and origin of man". Rev. Neale discussed from whence man came, what is man, why is he here and whither is he going. Both lectures were interesting, instructive and inspirational. Rev. D. C. Schnebly, pastor of the Mahoningtown Presbyterian church, had charge of the devotional period.

Tuesday, February 23, the next session of the school, Rev. Cadwell will continue his course on "Christian Ethics" and Rev. A. M. Stump, pastor of the St. Paul's Lutheran church of New Castle, will give the third lecture in the "Great Christian Doctrines" course and his subject will be "Bibliology—the inspiration and content of the Bible".

SCHOOLS AIM TO DEVELOP CHARACTER

HARRISBURG, Feb. 19.—Doctor Lester K. Ade, superintendent of public instruction, said today that "one of the major points of emphasis in any modern program of education is character development."

The department of public instruction, among other committees organized for the purpose of developing materials of instruction for the schools of the commonwealth, has designated a committee on character education.

"This committee," Dr. Ade said, "is making a survey of studies and developments achieved in the department and throughout the state with a view to building from the present status a program that will be adapted to meet the new needs of education."

Something similar to cross-word puzzles is said to have occupied the time of the Chinese as early as 1000 B. C.

Ask City Council To Define Policy For Cascade Park

Park Commission Confers With Council On Thursday Afternoon

Cascade Park commission met with council Thursday afternoon and asked the solons to define a policy for the future operations of the park. At present the park is considered by Director Joseph D Alexander as a recreation and not a concession park. He believes, he stated, that to add boating and probably one or two more concessions would not change the status from a recreation center.

The commission would like council to re-roof Rainbow terrace, install new toilets in the southern end of the park; drain Cascade lake, erect a new restaurant, build a new playground, erect a wall similar to that at the lower Washington street entrance at the upper Washington St. entrance and place lights around Cascade lake so that ice skating may be enjoyed next winter.

It was explained by Alexander that the WPA has been asked to approve projects for a new kitchen new toilets and new playground plot.

Council will give their decision within the near future, it was reported.

HEAR WITNESSES FOR DEFENSE IN SOMERSET CASE

called to save State Trooper Stacey Gunderman from the electric chair for the alleged "third degree" death of Monaghan, the district attorney said he had warned his men to "take no chances" and "shoot if necessary" when he sent them on a manhunt for Monaghan after the latter had savagely slashed County Detective John C. Wall.

Motor Trip Query

Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti, special prosecutor, suffered a second defeat at the hands of the defense today when Supreme Court Justice George W. Maxey sustained objections against his cross-examination. Margiotti was attempting to question Reilly on a mysterious motor trip the district attorney and Wall made to Connellsville on the night of Monaghan's death.

Reilly insisted he and Wall went to Connellsville to visit the elder Reilly, but this did not satisfy Margiotti. He attempted to force Reily to divulge more details, but John J. Duggan, Jr., chief defense counsel, objected and was sustained.

"We propose to show the meeting on the road between Reilly and Wall and Monaghan was not accidental," Margiotti said in a heated clash with Judge Maxey, but the supreme court jurist sustained the defense.

Previously, the defense had blocked an attempt by Margiotti to show that "papers" pertaining to an investigation he said Monaghan was making of Reilly and Wall were taken from Monaghan's pockets.

Reilly likewise disclaimed any knowledge of the "papers" about which Margiotti spoke.

The district attorney corroborated Wall's story of how they stopped Monaghan and his companion, Florence Dean, 18, and of how he was slashed by the hotelkeeper while the Dean girl held his hand.

Night Chief of Police Charles Malik, who arrested Monaghan, testified that at first the elderly man's companion, Florence Dean, 18, sought to take the blame, telling him: "If anything is wrong, I did it." At the police station, he said, Monaghan swore at Gunderman and the trooper replied: "Oh, so you want to get tough, huh?"

"Papers" Bring Mystery Angle

Courthouse, Somerset, Pa., Feb. 19.—Attempts by Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti to show that "papers" pertaining to an investigation of prominent Fayette county officials being made by Frank C. Monaghan, 64, were taken from Monaghan's pockets were blocked today by defense attorneys at the "third degree" murder trial of state trooper Stacey Gunderman.

Margiotti did not make clear what these "papers" might have been other than to intimate they pertained to an investigation being made by Monaghan who, the commonwealth charges, was brutally beaten to death during a "third degree" in the fayette county courthouse last September 12.

The witness was knife-scarred John C. Wall, chief of the Fayette county detectives and the first witness called by the defense in its efforts to prove that "Monaghan got no more than he deserved." Wall was slashed by Monaghan and it was while Monaghan was being questioned about this slashing that he suffered the horrible injuries which caused his death.

Charges Girl Aided

Wall charged that as he sought to defend himself from a savage attack with a knife by Monaghan in the latter's automobile, the elderly hotelkeeper's companion, Florence Dean, 18, held his right hand.

He walked over and showed the jury the scars on his face, hands and tongue which he said resulted from wounds inflicted by Monaghan. One slash started at the left side of his face and continued around his neck below the chin, then to the back of his right ear, and then around the ear to the face and across the cheek. There were scars across his hands and wrists. His tonuge also was cut, he testified.

"Did you have any knowledge that Monaghan had papers in his inside coat pocket that referred to you and Reilly?" asked Margiotti.

"No," Wall replied.

"Did you have any knowledge that Monaghan had been conducting an investigation concerning you and Reilly?" Margiotti continued.

John J. Duggan, Jr., chief defense counsel, sprang to his feet with an objection and was sustained by Supreme Court Justice George W. Maxey, presiding in the case.

As he spoke, Wall wore glasses. He explained to the jury that since the attack his eyesight had been impaired. He spoke haltingly, as if his speech had been impeded by the tongue cuts.

Wall told the now familiar story of events that night of September 12 last year. He met District Attorney James A. Reilly at the latter's office and they decided to go to Connellsville to visit Reilly's father, he said. He testified that on the road his attention was attracted to a car weaving from one side to another. He asserted he tried four or five times to pass it and was unable and finally pulled the police siren and forced the car to the side of the road. He got out and went back to the other car and there learned for the first time Monghan was the driver.

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—President Roosevelt today revised the personnel of his Social Security board, accepting the resignation of Chairman John G. Winant, designating Arthur J. Winant, former Republican governor of New Hampshire, who temporarily resigned from the Social Security board during the last campaign to defend it against Republican attacks, resubmitted his resignation under date of January 9.

Withholding acceptance until today, the president wrote him that after what he hoped would be a short period of time, he could count on Winant's return to national public service.

Twenty-Six Licensed Amateur Radio Stations Located In New Castle

(Special To The News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 19—With national attention focussed on the service rendered by radio amateurs in the flood emergency, records of the Federal Communications Commission today showed New Castle has 26 licensed amateur radio stations.

In each case, the owner of the station is himself a licensed amateur operator.

Often called "the last back log of communications," the radio amateurs form an unusual group. Each station costs hundreds of dollars, on the average, and long hours of study and practice lie back of each operator's license. Yet any amateur will handle for nothing, messages which would cost a day's pay on a commercial basis he is prohibited from making any charge for services rendered.

Meeting Is Planned For Night Of February 25; L. F. Kohn, Chairman

The second open forum on phases of Jewish life has been scheduled for Thursday evening, 8:15, February 25, at the Cosmo club. Rabbi Pinchos Katz of the Tifereth Israel Synagogue and Rabbi Norman H. Diamond of Temple Israel will present two sides of the question, "Jewish Education Is the Most Important Factor Facing Jewry Today." With the new enthusiasm in the rebirth of Palestine and the Hebrew language, with the many new projects being initiated in the field of Jewish education, the problem becomes one of paramount significance for present-day Jewry.

The chairman for the evening will be Louis F. Kohn, long active in Jewish communal affairs of the city. He has had considerable experience in religious school work which qualifies him particularly to preside at this meeting. The success of the first forum has encouraged the continuance of these public discussions.

Your Income Tax In A Nutshell

DEDUCTION FOR INTEREST

Amounts paid for or accrued within the taxable year 1936 as interest on indebtedness are deductible with certain exceptions, from gross income in determining net income. Such items include interest on borrowed money to defray personal expenses, and on money borrowed for the purchase of real or personal property. If a person owes money on a lien or mortgage note on his home the amount of the interest may be deducted. Indebtedness, however, need not be evidenced by lien, judgment or mortgage to make the interest on it deductible. Frequently indebtedness is evidenced only by a note.

Interest paid on indebtedness incurred in the purchase of obligations (other than obligations of the United States issued after September 24, 1917, and originally subscribed for by the taxpayer), the interest upon which is wholly exempt from federal income tax, is not deductible. Interest paid on loans on life insurance policies is deductible provided the amount of the loan is not used for the purposes previously referred to in this paragraph.

Interest paid on behalf of a friend or relative where there is no legal obligation on the part of the payor is not deductible. In such cases the amount is the same as a gift.

As interest paid is deductible, so interest received is taxable. All such amounts including interest received on bank and savings deposits must be included in the taxpayers' return of gross income.

BREAD BOMBS

(International News Service)

BELGRADE.—Political prisoners in Zagreb Court Goal protested that the bread they were given was as hard as bricks and uneatable. When the warders tried to break up a meeting of protest organized by the prisoners, they were met with a "bombardment" of loaves. Several received minor injuries. The uninjured warders fired a few rounds in the air. The prisoners then decided they had carried the protest far enough and dispersed to their cells.

Few radio listeners get their opinion of the program from the applause of a friendly studio audience.

State Building Program Funds Are Available

(BULLETIN)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—PWA today notified Governor Earle of Pennsylvania that money for grants up to $20,000,000 and "all the money necessary' for loans for Pennsylvania's public institutional building program is available.

Calls Attention To Tax Liens

City Solicitor Gets Communication From Investigator For State

Attorney John Prather, Beaver county, an investigator for the attorney-general of Pennsylvania, has indicated to Solicitor William D. Cobau that inasmuch as tax liens have been filed against land occupied by the partially constructed Armory, that he would not pass the title until the matter of taxes is straightened out.

This information was given by Cobau to council at their Thursday meeting in city hall. The solicitor said informally he does not believe the tax liens would hold good. The matter may have to be settled by the court, Cobau indicated.

His letter to council said the taxes had been filed by the county, Shenango township and Shenango township school board.

Cobau's letter added:

"We understand that at the time the city took title to this land there was considerable discussion with the other taxing authorities to whether the property should be exempted. These negotiations, however, were fruitless.

"It would appear to the writer that this is a matter that should be judically determined in the best interests of all parties interested. We believe that the proper procedure would be to file a bill in equity against the other taxing districts to restrain the collection of these taxes. This, of course, should be preceded by a resolution of your body which will be prepared if you deem it advisable at the time to proceed in this matter."

Council referred the communication to committee.

The land formerly was owned by the Pennsylvania Power company and deeded to the city which in turn deeded the land to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

LESS SEED ADEQUATE IF SOWN CAREFULLY ON GOOD SEEDBED

Sowing 8 pounds of red clover or alfalfa per acre puts over 60 seeds on each square foot of ground. With alsike clover the number is more than doubled and with timothy it is about five times as great.

It does not take many clover and timothy plants to the square foot to give a good stand and a good crop. Apparently, the mortality must be pretty high and much more seed seems to be sown than should be necessary. With hardy adapted clover and alfalfa seed scarce and costly, perhaps something can be done to insure good stands with less seed, thus saving money individually and making the adapted seed sow more acres.

Where seeding with spring grain, experience leads the farmer to sow plenty of seed, and still stands may be thin. Spring grain seedbeds often are simply plowed, harrowed and drilled. This leaves loose, cloddy soil which dries out quickly and in which the little seedlings have a mighty hard time. What they need is fine soil, worked until it is solid and firm. Fall or winter plowing gives more of this condition.

Better seedbeds for clover and grass could be gotten, often with less time and labor, by disking or harrowing corn and potato fields instead of loosening them deeply with a plow. Where the land is spring-plowed, going over it a few more times with the disk, roller, or plank drag before sowing will make possible better stands with less seed. The stand is nearly always best at the ends of the field which get extra tramping or in the drill wheel track.

Lighter sowing of oats and the use of barley or earlier varieties of oats will mean less competition with the clover and fewer burned-out and dried-up clover stands. Cutting oats in the milk stage makes good hay and in dry seasons materially helps the clover.

In seeding on winter grain many farmers throw a heavy seeding out on the ground very early in spring, hoping that enough of it will germinate and escape death from later freezes. Some have found that they get better and surer stands by sowing a much smaller amount of seed with a disk seeder after the ground is dry enough for a team. Some go over the grain with a harrow, weeder, or cultipacker after broadcast seedings, while others use a disk drill with the clover sown down the spouts. Any method of covering seems better than depending entirely on Nature.

Alfalfa seedings seem more apt to be killed by late freezes than clover. Alfalfa also seems to need more careful covering than clover. Consequently, later sowing and some covering is especially desirable where alfalfa makes up all or a part of the seeding. Later clover or alfalfa seedings are also less apt to die during the dry weather so common in late April and May. Some farmers split the seeding, putting half on early and the other half late, thus dividing the risk of bad weather. Six or eight pounds of red clover or alfalfa per acre should be ample, along with 4 to 6 pounds of timothy.

FIND SOIL MANAGEMENT IMPORTANT IN ORCHARD

With spring approaching, the Lawrence county orchardist is turning his attention to the soil management program which will be carried out this season.

The use of commercial fertilizer will be part of the program in practically all orchards which receive good care. The question is, "What fertilizer and How Much?" Nitrogen is the element which produces the quickest and most marked response in tree growth and productivity. For apples, an application of nitrogenous fertilizer at the rate of one-fourth to one-third of a pound a tree for each year of the tree's age up to 30 years. For peaches, a more generous application of one-third to one-half pound for each year of the tree's age up to 10 years is suggested. The application should be made in March or April, and at least 2 to 4 weeks before full bloom.

Phosphate, lime, and potash, applied primarily for the sod or cover crop, may be used in the same manner that they would be used in growing these crops outside the orchard.

Experience has shown that long continued unbroken sod in the apple orchard generally results in poor tree growth and consequently low productivity, while long continued cultivation each season reduces the organic matter in the soil and results in excessive erosion. Many growers with sod orchards are steering a wise middle course by thoroughly harrowing up the sod once in winter or early spring and then allowing it to go without further cultivation until the next season. This reduces the comperition for nitrogen between trees and sod in early spring, and results in better tree growth and productivity.

To do their best, peaches demand more cultivation than apples. Hence, the peach orchard or the apple orchard interplanted with peaches is cultivated from early spring until the middle or last of May. Some growers continue cultivation much later, but this practice seems undesirable because of the added expense and the fact that it usually results in slowly reducing the soil organic matter.

This subject is more completely discussed in Circular No. 171 "Soil Management in the Orchard," which may be obtained free of charge from the Agricultural Extension office, 206 Post Office building New Castle.

PLAN CLOTHES CHANGES, FOR SPRING IS COMING

An article recently said that "Spring is a state of mind—induced by everything from a new hat to a sparkling change of accessories." That's a pretty good women's definition, and during these last few monotonous weeks of winter is a good time to develop that "state of mind."

Miss Mary Vogle, Lawrence County Home Economics Extension representative, suggests digging out all last year's "possibilities" and dividing them into three stacks. The first pile will be clothes which still fit perfectly and can be worn again without change, other than the usual up-to-the-minute accessories. The second pile will be for clothes which need to be brought up-to-date. (Perhaps a tunic suit will have to be cut to a hip-length jacket to date it "1937"). Mark the third stack "Discards."

Now make your lists: (1) Accessories needed for the first group; (2) ideas for remodeling the second group, and (3) how to use best the third group—(flood relief, or braided rugs.)

Remember that a good suit is the backbone of any wardrobe. Try to bring your old suit up to date, or buy a new one to act as the foundation for your new spring outfit.

Beige is the outstanding new color for this season, but navy blue and black are always smart. If you select a conservation style and plain color for your suit, you may let your imagination run riot in regard to colors for blouses, bags, gloves, shoes and accessories, Miss Vogle reminds. For example, with beige, black or blue, wear bright green, deep red or yellow.

In addition to the suit, have one cheerful print dress to wear under your winter coat before it is warm enough to step out in your suit and you will have all that is needed to complete that "state of mind" which becomes a "spring wardrobe."

Branch Story-Hour Sessions Are Popular

Many Listen To Stories Told In Various Parts Of City Each Week

Miss Sarah Mervis, branch librarian for the free public library is having exceptional success with her story-hour sessions at the branch libraries. This is a new idea which was started several weeks ago and was greeted with a large response from children in the various sections of the city.

The two latest sessions were conducted at the Mahoning school and at the East Side branch. A total attendance of 179 persons enjoyed the interesting tales related by Miss Mervis. She told: "Princess Whom No One Could Silence", "Pied Piper of Hamelin", "How Brother Rabbit Fooled the Whale and the Elephant".

BANANA CAKE

½ cup Spry
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon grated lemon rind
1 cup sugar
2 eggs, unbeaten
2 cups sifted flour (cake flour preferred)
2½ teaspoons baking powder
¾ cup milk
1 large banana, sliced

Combine Spry, salt and lemon rind. Add sugar gradually and cream until light and fluffy. (Easy as can be with triple-creamed Spry.) Add eggs, one at a time, beating thoroughly after each addition.

Sift flour and baking powder together 3 times. Add small amounts of flour to creamed mixture, alternately with milk, beating after each addition until smooth. Pour batter into two 8-inch layer pans greased with Spry. No wonder Spry cakes are light and even-grained, with a fine, fluffy batter like this! Bake in moderately hot oven (375° F.) 25 minutes.

Spread Creamy Banana Frosting on one layer and arrange banana slices on top. Place second layer on top and spread frosting on top and sides of cake.

CREAMY BANANA FROSTING

2 tablespoons Spry
1 tablespoon butter
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon grated lemon rind
3 cups sifted confectioners' sugar
1 large banana, mashed
3 tablespoons scalded cream (about)

Combine Spry, butter, salt and grated lemon rind, and blend. Add ½ cup sugar gradually, creaming well. Add mashed banana and blend. Add remaining sugar, alternately with cream, beating until smooth and creamy and stiff enough to spread. Like all frostings made with Spry, this keeps beautifully fresh. Makes enough frosting to cover tops and sides of two 8-inch layers.

NEW WAY TO MAKE CAKE

easier, tastes better, costs less

NO LONG hard beating to cream your shortening, no stirring and stirring to get your ingredients to blend. Triple-creamed Spry gives a light, fluffy batter in no time—a cake of velvety smoothness, wonderful flavor. Compare it with cakes made with far more expensive shortening—and the Spry cake wins! Try Spry for flakier pastry, too—crisper, tastier fried foods, so digestible a child can eat them. Get a can of Spry, the purer ALL-vegetable shortening, today.

FAMOUS SINGER RETURNS

This evening in the Senior High school auditorium the music department will present William Bowers great Negro singer. On Mr. Bowers' last appearance in New Castle an almost universal desire was expressed by those who heard him that they might hear him again soon. And so our music department has obliged.

Mr. Bowers will present a varied program ranging from Negro spirituals to classical selections. Miss Lucille Davis will assist Mr. Bowers. Miss Davis, formerly lived in New Castle and her father was, at that time, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church. Tonight at 8:30 through the courtesy of the music department you will be able to see and hear this popular singer once again.

STUDENTS ARE MODELS

Last Tuesday, an educational program was held under the auspices of the Federated Women's Clubs at the Highland U. P. church. Several hundred women attended morning and afternoon sessions of the meeting. A panel discussion was held and Miss Marjorie Rhodes of our high school was a member of the panel.

A style show was held as a part of the morning session. A group of ten girls from the home economics department of the Senior High school displayed various garments which included everything from house coats and pajamas to smart evening dresses and velvet wraps.

Mrs. Viola Healy prefaced the style show with some general remarks and then presented the girls. The following girls did the modeling: Doris Bevan, Helen Daly, Nadine Rodenbaugh, Jennie Dutking, Mary Ellen Campbell, Anita Hamilton, Ruth Frazier, Katherine Doran, Laura Mae Martin, and Marian Duff. The Power Of Jesus Over Death

"Brass Tacks" On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

John 11:25—"I am the resurrection, and the life."

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL

(The international uniform lesson on the above topic for Feb. 21 is John 11:1-12:11, especially 11:23-28; 32-34, the Golden Text being 11:25, "I am the resurrection and the life.")

"WHAT A FRIEND we have in Jesus, all our sins and griefs to bear! What a privilege to carry everything to God in prayer!"

Jesus Friend of Sorrowing

Mary and Martha, Jesus' friends in Bethany, turned instinctively to him in the hour of their sorrow over the sickness of their brother Lazarus, and "sent unto him, saying, Lord, behold, he whom thou lovest is sick. But when Jesus heard it, he said, This sickness is not unto death, but for the glory of God, that the Son of God may be glorified thereby." So, no affliction of a Christian is a matter for despair, but for waiting for the revelation of God's glory. God may seem to delay the answer, but his delays never imply his desertion: "When therefore he heard that he was sick, he abode at that time two days in the place where he was." And when at length he started for Bethany to raise Lazarus from the dead, what a beautiful picture of death he gave the Christians: "Our friend Lazarus is fallen asleep; but I go, that I may awake him out of sleep . . . now Jesus had spoken of his death." How slow, to this day, are his disciples to see death as he pictured it!

Jesus the Resurrection and Life

Both Martha and Mary used identical words when first they realized Jesus' presence with them in "the valley of the shadow of death"; "Lord, if thou hadst been here, my brother had not died." So, with innumerable "Ifs" as unjustified as theirs, we needlessly torment ourselves in life's bereavements. Was not Jesus with them in spirit during those two days he tarried beyond Jordan as death hovered over the house of his Bethany friends? His tarryings are always timed in love for his friends. And when he comes to confront death with his superior resources of life, he voices the most tremendous and significant claim this world has ever heard: "I am the resurrection and the life: he that believeth on me, though he die, yet shall he live; and whosoever liveth and believeth on me shall never die. Believest thou this?" This is unquestionably the voice of God, for no mortal dare speak such words. Martha's conclusion is the only logical conclusion to which anyone can come: "Yea, Lord: I have believed that thou art the Christ, the Son of God, even he that cometh into the world."

"Jesus Wept"

Jesus' tears at the tomb of his friends are the proof of the depth and genuineness of his sympathy for us in our hour of sorrow, whether he wept because his friend Lazarus had died, or, perhaps we may more reasonably infer, because he was about to bring his friend back again into this vale of tears after having tasted of something far better on the other side, in "the house of the Lord". However that may be, his "Lazarus, come forth," and its resultant turning of death into life, justify our faith and hope and joy as we anticipate its repetition in the case of our loved ones and ourselves when Christ fulfills his promise: "The hour comething, in which all that are in the tombs shall hear his voice, and shall come forth." "Thanks be to God, who giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ!"

OBTAIN DATA ON GROWTH OF TREES

HARRISBURG, Feb. 19.—Deputy Secretary W. J. B. Winters, of the department of forests and waters, announced today that his department has secured some valuable growth data on the Beech-Birch Maple forest type in Pennsylvania. The information was obtained from more than fifty sample plots located on different areas throughout the state.

It has been found that after this stand reaches an age of from 20 to 30 years, that these forests are capable of producing one cord or more each year of their age and continuing for approximately 30 years until the stand is about sixty years old.

PRICE INCREASE FAVORS FARMERS

HARRISBURG—For the first time since 1925 the farmers of the United States are receiving more for the things they sell than they pay for the things they buy. Their buying power is now 102 per cent on the basis of pre-war prices.

With two exceptions farm products raised in Pennsylvania are bringing better prices than in December. Turkeys dropped one cent per pound and butter prices remained stationary.

TRENTO, Italy.—A white flag has been hoisted on the belfry of the village of Pannone. This means that during 1936 there have been no deaths in that district while several hundred births have been registered.

"WALLS HAVE EARS"

LONDON—Old adage, "Walls have ears," is true in the case of the home of Thomas Luxton, retired farmer of Botley, Hampshire. Luxton and the builders can do nothing to stop the walls of his home being covered with ears of corn. Investigation revealed the sand used in the plaster for the walls was carried in a truck previously used for transporting farm products.

Mary Astor Tells About Her Romance With New Husband

By FRED J. WALKER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 19.—Mary Astor slept late today on the strangest honeymoon of her experience separated by thousands of miles from her bridegroom, Manuel Martinez Del Campo, former little theater actor, who is in Mexico City.

Exhausted by the strain of 36 sleepless hours during which she flew with Del Campo to Yuma, Ariz., and was married by a judge, the thrice married film actress denied herself to all callers and refused to answer the telephone at her Toluca Lake mansion.

Del Campo, who flew to the Mexican capital from Mexicali, following the ceremony, is not expected home for at least two weeks, perhaps longer. He is attending to the affairs of his father, Manuel Martinez Del Campo, Sr., whose unexpected death led to the midnight elopement.

Indications were that telephone bills of the newlyweds would be terrific as it costs $8.20, including tax, for a station-to-station call and $10.20 for a person-to-person conversation of three minutes between Hollywood and Mexico City.

Will Be Happy.

"I have always believed in a home and a happy married life," said Miss Astor before retiring. "I've always wanted that most. Now I have everything I wanted.

"Since my last divorce I have felt that I must marry again and take up a normal life for myself, as well as for my child, Marylyn, and Manuel is the man. Marylyn and he had three months to get acquainted and they love each other. I am sure that we will be very happy."

The elopement resulted from a spur-of-the-moment decision Wednesday night as Del Campo prepared to fly to the funeral of his father, member of a prominent family in the Mexican capital, Miss Astor revealed.

Married On Impulse.

"We decided impulsively to get married, just before midnight," she said. "We both planned to deny that we were married out of respect to the death of Manuel's father.

"I held out as long as I could but the evidence against my story was so overwhelming I finally decided to admit the fact. I've told Manuel it is useless to deny the marriage and no doubt he will make some sort of a statement about it."

Miss Astor said that Ruth Chatterton, noted actress introduced Del Campo to her last Dec. 1 and while not exactly a case of "love at first sight" it was very nearly that.

BIG CATCH

(International News Service)

ALBERNI, B. C.—Fred Schwarz, 16, went duck hunting at the mouth of Shoemaker Bay, and bagged a 15-foot octopus instead. The boy shot a duck and waded into the shallow water to get it. As he approached, the octopus seized the bird in one of its tentacles, then headed toward Schwarz. The charges from both barrels of his shotgun had little effect. Schwarz hastily reloaded, as the creature moved forward, and fired twice more, killing it.

HARRISBURG, Feb. 19.—Whether the current moving picture entitled "Spain In Flames" is communist propaganda and unfit for showing in Pennsylvania will be decided on by Gov. George H. Earle today.

Upon receipt of several protests to the action of the state board of censors banning the picture from the commonwealth, the governor announced he would review it himself in Philadelphia.

Prosecution Ends Testimony In Somerset Case

Coroner Is Final Witness In "Third Degree" Case For Commonwealth

DEFENSE OUTLINES CASE ON THURSDAY

By DICK SHANER
nternational News Service Staff Correspondent

COURTHOUSE, Somerset, Pa., Feb. 19—Defense attorneys today began the battle to save state trooper Stacey Gunderman from the electric chair.

They called witnesses to testify that Frank C. Monaghan, 64, Uniontown hotelkeeper, "had a reputation for violence and viciousness surpassed by no one."

They sought to prove that when he died in the bertillon room in the Fayette county courthouse it was not because of a "third degree" torture at the hands of Gunderman and six others including District Attorney James A. Reilly but as a victim "of his own evil disposition."

Their defense was, in the words of Chief Defense Attorney John J. Duggan, Jr., "Monoghan got no more than he deserved."

Defense Opens

Opening the case for the defense in a terse and crowded courtroom late yesterday afternoon, Duggan charged Monaghan's last lawless act was to slash the throat of County Detective John C. Wall, a man who befriended him and was attempting to help him by driving his car home.

When he was taken to the bertillon room, Duggan charged, he was drunk and violent. Gunderman struck the old man twice, Duggan admitted, and knocked him to the floor but only because Monaghan had twice attacked him, once from behind.

Monaghan died a victim of his own violence, the defense attorney charged, when in a drunk and violend mood he fell against a marble base- board in the shower, incurring the injuries that caused his death.

Closes Prosecution

Duggan began the defense a moment after Attorney General Chas. J. Margiotti, the special prosecutor, surprised the courtroom by closing the commonwealth's case with almost a score of witnesses yet to be heard. His last act was to place in the record Gunderman's own report to his superior of what occurred the night of September 12 in the bertillon room.

Margiotti brought his case to a sensational climax by bringing into the courtroom at his own request ailing Coroner S. A. Baltz, of Fayette county. From a wheel chair in a voice so weakened it could be heard only with difficulty, Dr. Baltz indicted as one of the five accessories who allegedly sought to "cover up" Monaghan's death, told the jury that Reilly and state troopers Gunderman and Anthony Sanute, the latter under indictment for murder, authorized the story that Monaghan died of a fall.

He told of seeing Gunderman in a blood-stained shirt near Monaghan. He told the jury that Gunderman twice declared to him he had not man-handled the prisoner. And he had decided after a fuller examination that Monaghan could not have sustained all the injuries found on his body in one fall.

All his actions of that morning, Dr. Baltz said, were at the direction of District Attorney James A. Reilly. His two co-defendants, Dr. H. E. Ralston and Dr. Cataldo Corrado had testified that Dr. Baltz gave the first report that Monaghan died of a "heart condition superinduced by alcoholism." But Dr. Baltz said he give that verdict only after conferring with his two colleagues.

Raging Winds Hurl Shepherd To Death

(International News Service)

BELGRADE, Feb. 19.—During a fierce gale at Petrovatz-on-Sea, in Yugoslavia, a shepherd and several sheep were swept into the air by the raging wind, carried over the edge of a precipice and crashed to their deaths in the rocky valley 1,000 feet below.

The shepherd, Bozho Jovitch, was tending his flock on a plateau above Petrovatz when the storm broke out. He and some of his sheep were carried far out beyond the precipice before they fell.

Jovitch's body was found 24 hours later in a terribly mutilated condition.

MOTHERS ARE RESPONSIBLE

The family looks to you to aid your doctor in keeping them well. You can help prevent much illness and poor health by guarding them from common constipation.

Most constipation comes from faulty diet — meals low in "bulk." This condition can be corrected so easily and pleasantly.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides the safe way to prevent constipation by putting "bulk" back in the diet. Within the body, ALL-BRAN absorbs twice its weight in water, forming a soft mass which gently sponges out the system.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN also furnishes vitamin B and iron. It is so much better for your family than constant dosing with artificial pills and drugs.

Two tablespoonfuls daily as a cereal with milk or cream, or in recipes, are enough for the average person. Three times daily in severe cases.

Sold at all grocers — and guaranteed by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Court Rules On Ice House Vs. Ice Box

(International News Service)

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Feb. 19.—Just when does an ice box become an ice house, or an ice house become an ice box?—that is the question which Judge J. H. Schisler and a jury here is called on to decide.

George Rush asked Jean Drake Perry, local trucker, to move his ice box or ice house and Perry started to move it but found it too big and quit.

Rush asks $300 damages in a suit filed here because Perry failed to carry out the agreement to move the ice box or is it an ice house?

Perry contends that it is an ice house and that he contracted to move an ice box.

Fig-Leaf Bathing Suits Are Doomed

(International News Service)

CORAL GABLES, Fla., Feb. 19.—End of the "fig-leaf trend" in bathing suits was forecast here today by Annette Kellerman, whose one-piece costume made her famous in the days when swimming suits had long sleeves and collars.

"Plump women who enjoy water sports are not going to stand for any further abbreviation of bathing suits," Miss Kellerman declared. "In fect, the trend is already toward a longer skirt and a fuller costume."

WOULD PUT TAX ON BACHELORS

(International News Service)

DOVER, Del., Feb. 19.—Bad news for bachelors!

Under provisions of a bill introduced in the state legislature today by Representative William A. Ringler, Delaware's bachelors would be taxed $50 yearly to maintain a shelter for unmarried expectant mothers.

Men affected by the proposed statute would be compelled to register with the state tax commissioner. Although the bill lacks a penalty clause a house committee was to determine what the penalty shall be. Besides fine or imprisonment the committee could have recalcitrant bachelors lashed at the state whipping post, if it chose.

Death Removes One Witness

Man Questioned About Old Murder Case Here Collapses And Dies

LIVED HERE IN 1906; FOUND IN CHICAGO

Death in a dramatic fashion has removed one of the commonwealth witnesses who was to have testified in the murder case against Rocco Esposito, to be tried in March, according to Frank Costa, investigator for the attorney-general. Costa is the man who brought Esposito back from Kirkland Lake, Ontario, to stand trial for the murder of Francesco Romeo in October, 1906 at New Castle Junction.

The witness, Pasquale Oliva, was a resident of Chicago but in October 1906 he resided at 159 Jefferson street, New Castle. After a search of weeks Costa found Oliva in Chicago and brought him into the Chicago police department. It was discovered that he was the man they had wanted for three years and after he made his statement to Costa concerning the Esposito case he was examined by the Chicago officers.

"Why did you kill Villoni" asked the Chicago police as they started to question Oliva.

"I no kill him" protested Oliva. "I know-----" and with that he collapsed in his chair, the victim of a cerebral hemorrhage. This was on February 3rd. On February 4th he died.

Two other men will be brought to New Castle to testify, according to the officer. One of them Giovanni Votari is in the Connecticut state prison.

The other, Patsy Scalone, is serving sixty years in the eastern penitentiary of Pennsylvania.

Tree Planting Planned By PTA

Will Be Important Feature Of Anniversary Of Organization

HARRISBURG, Feb. 19.—Tree planting by parent-teacher associations throughout the United States will be an important feature of the celebration of the 40th anniversary of the founding of the national congress of parents and teachers.

Dr. Lester K. Ade, superintendent of public instruction, today said a plan adopted at the recent meeting of the national board of managers recommends that each of the 25,000 local associations, councils and state branches plant a tree during 1937 in honor of the congress, its founders and as a permanent mark of the anniversary. The American Tree association will issue enrollment cards to participating groups upon notification that a tree has been planted.

A special 40th anniversary committee has been working for several months on plans for the celebration.

STATE REMOVES MANY BLISTERS

HARRISBURG, Feb. 19.—Agents surveyed 156,730 acres of forest land in Pennsylvania during 1936, for white pine blister rust and eradicated 8,081,716 ribes from the area, Secretary James F. Bogardus of the Department of Forests and Waters reported today.

Agencies carrying on this work in Pennsylvania under the supervision of the Department of Forests and Waters and the U. S. Bureau of Animal Industry, were the CCC, the NYA, WPA, Land Resettlement Administration, and the Soil Conservation Service. Funds were allocated by the state department.

Mrs. Simpson Returns Gems

Valuable "Queen Alexandra Emeralds" Given To Wally By Duke Are Returned

(International News Service)

LONDON, Feb. 19.—Mrs. Wallis Warfield Simpson has returned to the royal family the priceless "Queen Alexandra emeralds" which former King Edwa i gave her, the weekly news-magazine Cavalcade stated today.

The jewels, the publication said, are now in possession of Queen Elizabeth and some may be inserted in a crown now being prepared for her, Cavalcade said.

Mrs. Simpson, according to Cavalcade, had insured the jewels along with her own for $500,000.

Referring to the late Queen Alexandra's jewels, the magazine declared:

Has Returned Gems

"The emeralds from this valuable collection were given with other family jewels to Mrs. Simpson by Edward VIII when he was king.

"When, however, Edward decided to abdicate, Theodore Goddard, Mrs. Simpson's attorney, was suddenly sent on a secret mission to Cannes. In a long talk with Mrs. Simpson he talked about the future, and he is credited with having been instructed to ask her about the jewels which Edward had given her from the family collection as gifts to one who was to join the family.

"Goddard asked her if she would be so good as to return them.

"Mrs. Simpson handed back the family heirlooms which she had insured, together with her own jewels, for 100,000 pounds sterling. One of the royal stones was so valuable no one would insure it."

AROUND CITY HALL

City council has received from the public school board a communication in which the board agreed to permit the city to install tennis courts on Boyles field, providing the city bears all of the expense. Councilman Joseph Alexander, director of parks, in commenting on the letter said he would study over the tennis court proposition.

Chief of police Ralph Criswell stated today that no trouble was experienced returning Sam Traci and Paul Perconti to New Castle from Cleveland yesterday. The prisoners are charged with participation in the attack on the late Policeman Robert Dukes. Traci is charged with murder and Perconti with being an accessory after the fact.

Council proposes to submit two projects to the WPA. One will call for repairs to municipal buildings and the other will repair property damaged when Schley street was cut through. The property was left in poor condition when the street was cut through, Councilman Joseph Alexander stated.

There was no discussion over the nomination by Finance Director James L. Fink of James Mayberry as mercantile appraiser yesterday. According to city officials Mayberry has been one of the most efficient appraisers the city has had. No other councilman presented any names in opposition to Mr. Mayberry.

CCC IMPROVES FOREST AREAS

HARRISBURG—Deputy Secretary W. J. B. Winters, of the State Department of Forests and Waters, said today that reports from the heavily forested counties in the state indicate that the work being accomplished by the CCC in these districts is definitely putting Penns woods in a more productive condition.

Many new sections of the state forests have been opened through new roads and trails to expedite the extinction of forest fires as well as the administration and management of the forests. The work accomplished as a result of the camps also contribute immensely to the recreational enjoyment of the citizens of Pennsylvania.

FARMERS SHOW MORE INTEREST IN GRADING

HARRISBURG — Increasing interest in standardized grading practices among the farmers, truck gardeners and fruit growers of Pennsylvania is reflected in the unprecedented demand for a bulletin on "Official Grades for Fruit and Vegetables in Pennsylvania", recently issued by the Department of Agriculture.

The bulletin explains the standard grades and contains the legal weights per bushel of farm crops and the state laws relating to the packing and marking of fruits and vegetables.

ALL-SECTION 3 TEAMS SELECTED

Aliquippa Gets Two Men On First Team, So Does Butler, New Castle Gets One

Adams Of New Castle Placed On Second Team, Many Given Honorable Mention

By CHARLES "BUGS" WALTHER

The time has come dear fans and fanettes to lend thy ears to the All-this and the All-that teams in the realm of basketball. I have decided to be first this year and while the season does not end until tonight for the Section Three teams, I will endeavor in my best Andeleuvian dialect to give you my impression of the boys who impressed me most in the section.

There will be a lot of ohs and ahs, as usual, and somebody is going to agree that maybe I'm half-right in my opinion, but ho 'hum' the time has come and so here goes—just like the turkey sticking his well known neck out on the chopping block around the 24th or 25th of each coming November.

The Forwards

Milanovich of Aliquippa and Paffrath of Butler draw the forward jobs and rightly so, believe you me. This pair can do tricks with any basketball. They both possess keen scoring powers and are fine floor workers. The second team forwards are rated just a shade under the two above mentioned boys—they are—J. Marr of New Brighton and Ziolowski of Ambridge. Also a fine pair of scoring forwards.

The Centers

Victor "Blackie" Nocera the made-over New Castle forward is our choice for center. This boy has been the mainstay of the New Castle team all year and ranks among the first five in the league in the matter of points scored. He works equally as well at center as at forward. A valuable asset to any team. The second team center is Killian, the big Beaver Falls high boy, who has helped the Tigers a lot this year.

The Guards

Here is where your correspondent is going to run into the most of the criticism. We have placed Pataky of Butler at a guard, and where he belongs really is at center, but with Nocera to be reckoned with, we give Mister Pataky a great ball handler and fine floor man the guard post along with the sensation of the league young Mister Davies of Aliquippa. Here is a real guard if there ever was one. He knows what it is all about. He just noses out Adams of New Castle by a fraction, but the local boy is placed on the second team, along with Sweezy of Ambridge.

Here It Is

There it is folks, so pick it to pieces if you want to:

First Team

Player	Pos.	School
Milanovich	F	Aliquippa
Paffrath	F	Butler
Nocera	C	New Castle
Davies	G	Aliquippa
Pataky	G	Butler

Second Team

Marr	F	New Brighton
Ziolowski	F	Ambridge
Killian	C	Beaver Falls
Adams	G	New Castle
Sweezy	G	Ambridge

Honorable mention—Strausbaugh, New Castle; Koszela, New Castle; Pishioneri, Ellwood City; Hauserman, Ellwood City; Lonnett, Beaver Falls; Yerega, Ambridge; Novak, Butler; Oliver, New Brighton; Carlo, New Brighton; Flannagan, Ellwood City; Small, New Castle; Ball, Butler.

Epworth Leads Church League

Are Undefeated In Five Games, St. Pauls In Runner-up Post

Epworth M. E. church basketball team is leading the New Castle Church basketball league at the present time with five victories and no defeats, and seem destined to win the second-half flag.

In second place is the St. Pauls team, with three victories and one defeat being tied with the First Presbyterians who also have won three and lost one.

The standing of the league as submitted to The News today by that demon statistician, Delbert Jackson.

Two Games In Section 21 As End Draws Near

Bessemer Will Entertain Wampum, New Wilmington Goes To East Brook

Two games will be played tonight in Section 21 of the W. P. I. A. L. as the season's finish draws closer. One week from tonight and the basketball season will be all over.

The championship Bessemer High team will play the Wampum High team at the Bessemer Hi court. The Wampums want their revenge on the champions for a setback earlier in the year. Coach L. B. Hennon will have his strongest possible lineup available.

The only other sectional battle will send the New Wilmington high team to the East Brook High floor, to meet the Emerickmen. The feature game will be the East Brook undefeated girls team playing the New Wilmington girls. Miss Marjorie Powell has a great girls team at East Brook this year.

Princeton will play a County league game at the Shenango High court.

Tough Schedule For Steel Five

The Carnegie-Illinois Steel basketball team will have a tough schedule to face in the next seven days, according to Edgie Skaneski, the energetic Major Domo of the Steelers.

Saturday the Steelers will meet the House-Seniors in the House-Indus league at the "Y". Next Monday the Steel quintet tackles the strong First Christian team of the church league at the "Y" court.

Thursday night the Steelers under Coach Frazier, will go to West Middlesex to meet the fast Middlesex Merchants. The Fraziermen hold a 18 to 16 victory over the Merchants here earlier in the year.

Friday night the Steelers will either play the Epworth M. E. team of the church league or the Polish Falcons, the exact team has not as yet been selected. This is quite a schedule of games and the boys will have to be on their toes to win them all.

Westminster Will Meet Waynesburg

Defending Four-Year No Defeat Home Floor Record On Saturday Night

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Feb. 19.—With a four-year record of no defeats on their home floor, the Westminster Titans, paced by Ken Grubb and Andy Demo in high scoring, will meet tough opposition in the form of the Waynesburg Wolfpack Saturday night, February 20, at 8:15 o'clock on the New Wilmington floor.

Both Grubb and Demo stand in the top ten high scorers in the district, both with a 10-point-per-game average. Demo, once the most inconsistent of the Titan forwards, has set a consistent pace throughout this season of making ten points or better for each game. Grubb always plays under a handicap since most of his shots are made under the basket, heavily guarded by the opposition defense.

A preliminary frosh game is scheduled for 7:30 o'clock.

Steele-Risko Fight Tonight

Championship Will Be At Stake In New York City Boxing Battle

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Feb. 19—Something better than 10,000 people will witness the unveiling of Freddie Steele, of the Pacific Northwest, for his first metropolitan showing at Madison Square Garden tonight, the occasion being a fifteen round fight with Eddie "Babe" Risko of Syracuse, for the world's middleweight championship. That is, it's the world's middleweight championship, as we of America are prepared to pay on things like that, although Lou Brouillard doubtless would like a discreet word on the subject, now that Marcel Thil has admitted that maybe he was hit on the necktie in Paris the other night.

This will be the third meeting between Steele and Risko, a couple of the handsome Harrys with which the middleweight division is currently endowed. Risko, a gent from the Navy, took the title in 1935 and blew it to Steele last July.

Steele Can Punch

Steele is the party who hit Vince Dundee on the jaw so hard that it was necessary to wire the fellow up like a signal box. Offhand, about 50 percent of Steele's fights have been won by a knockout and he's had the Pacific northwest gibbering about him for years. He has lost only two fights in his entire career, starting back in 1928, and altogether he seems to be quite a party.

He's 2 to 1 to retain the title, largely off his gymnasium performances which have been excellent, and, all told, everything would be Ypiilianti and positively Upsala if it wasn't for the fact that this Risko is nobody's chimpanzee.

First, he knocked over Teddy Yarosz in a non-title fight; then took the guy for his title in a later fight. At that time, Risko was a party who wound up like old Eppa Rixey and let fly from first base.

'Dizzy' Dean Is Teacher At Baseball Clinic

"Won't Sign With Cards For Less Than $50,000 Says Famous Talkie"

(International News Service)

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Feb. 19—Prof. Jerome "Dizzy" Dean, Cardinal mound star, had moved to Dallas today, leaving behind 65 young student pitchers—most of them fresh from the sandlots.

There was none of the braggadocio so familiar to Cardinal fans about the Dizzy who this week helped start pitching students at the Ray Doan baseball school on their five-week training course. Instead his attitude was that of an enthusiastic young teacher, eager to help his pupils over the rough spots.

Warneke On Hand

Paired with Lon Warneke, Dean studied the style of each young pitcher, advised him of ways to strengthen his delivery and then showed them how it was done in the big show.

"There's no rule about pitching, except the one that tells you to keep your feet on the rubber," Dean explained. "The main thing's control. And to have control, you've got to have control of yourself—live clean, let booze alone and don't smoke to excess."

Dean left here with an end to his holdout with the Cardinal management nowhere in sight.

"I don't want to see that contract they mailed me—I'm not signing for less than $50,000," he said.

New Castle To Play At Butler To End Season

George "Pop" Adams And Paul Small Will Play Final High School Games Tonight

New Castle High School "Red Hurricane" basketball team will end the Section 3 W. P. I. A. L. season tonight at the Butler High floor. The game will mark the end of the scholastic careers for George "Pop" Adams and Paul Small two fine guards.

The New Castle team will leave for Butler tonight around 5:30 o'clock, by bus. The Reserves of the two schools will play the preliminary game at 7 o'clock.

GEORGE "POP" ADAMS

In Adams the New Castle High team has one of the best defensive men they have had since the days of Bus Reiber. In fact Adams can be ranked alongside of the former great Reiber. Nothing but a pair of unfortunate circumstances kept this boy from being a great star this year, but the little action that he did see, he showed his worth. He is a fine scorer in addition to being a swell defensive man. It was the play of this fair-haired boy that carried New Castle to the state championship finals at Harrisburg. He will be sorely missed next year.

Paul Small is the other boy who will play his last game. Small got his chance this year when Dommie Covelli graduated, and has proved his worth. Small is the rugged type of player and very fast, he is a fine floor man.

Butler Anxious

Butler High is all set tonight, according to Bill Faust to pin the New Castle ears back. Bill contends that Butler blew their chances at New Castle earlier in the year. He thinks that tonight the worm will turn. It's been so long since Butler won one from New Castle that the spectators at the game have all passed away (only joking folks).

The runner-up post in the section will be at stake tonight, if runner-up posts mean anything. Each team has won seven and lost four.

Track Stars Will Compete Saturday Nite

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Feb. 19—Most of this nation's outstanding track and field stars and two from abroad, were gathered here today in readiness for the annual New York A. B. games tomorrow night, which will be run to the cheers of a capacity crowd at Madison Square Garden and perhaps to the detriment of existing records.

The meet includes all events in the way of running and leaping and tossing implements about the premises, including such fixtures as the Baxter mile, the Buermeyer 500, the Halpin half mile, the two-mile run and all the rest, and they call it the "meet of records" because of past performances.

Marks May Go

Some marks may be shattered tomorrow night, with apparently the outstanding feature on the program the mile event, festooned in the moss of tradition and this time bringing out a field that might accomplish anything.

The field includes Glenn Cunningham, the indoor and outdoor mile record-holder; Luigi Beccali of Italy, Olympic 1,500 meter champion of 1932 and third in the record-breaking Olympic 1500 meter race of 1936; Gene Venzke, national indoor 1,500 meter champion; Archie San Romani, NCAA champion, and Miklos Szabo of Hungary, 1,500 meter champion of his own country.

Other notables who will put in their appearance include John Woodruff, the Negro student at Pitt who refuses to run to form but who also refuses to lose. He is entered for the half-mile run and brings another Olympic touch to the proceedings. He won the 800-meter championship abroad.

WILL PLAY AT ALIQUIPPA

The K. Pulaski Big Five will play at Aliquippa on Saturday night with the strong Plodenic Celtics. The K. P. players are asked to meet at the hall at 5:45 o'clock to make the trip to the valley town.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Geneva defeated Bethany 44 to 42, in basketball at Beaver Falls last night. The winning rally in the second half was led by F. Milanovich. The contest was close all the way but the Bisons, hitting the mark with long shots, time and again, were in front throughout most of the first half and Bethany led at the half 24 to 23. Penebaker and F. Milanovich accounted for 21 of Geneva's points. Funk, forward for Bethany, caged 11 points.

Edward C. Rogers of Glen Cove, L. I., took the national amateur pocket billiard championship from Lewis Brooks of Philadelphia last night at New York, winning the playoff final, 125 to 42 in 12 innings.

Slippery Rock To Meet Waynesburg On Home Floor

(Special To The News)

SLIPPERY ROCK, Feb. 19.—Slippery Rock's Green and White quintet which has won seven straight games and nine out of twelve this season, are set for the game with the Waynesburg Yellow Jackets here Friday, February 19. Westminster and Waynesburg are the only conquerors of the Rockets this season and the local five will be out to avenge themselves.

A victory over the Wolfpack would left the Green and White high in basketball circles in Western Pennsylvania, hence the Rockets are hoping to repeat the surprise drubbing they gave Waynesburg last year. In their last seven victories, the Thompson men have averaged 51 points per game to their opponents' 36. The starting lineup for Slippery Rock has Axtell and Denbow at forwards, Truman at center, Barnes and Meals at guard. Haynes at forward and Mallon at guard are alternates.

Games Saturday In House-Indus League At "Y"

Three fast games will be played Saturday night at the Y. M. C. A. floor in the House-Indus league. The first game will start at 8 o'clock.

The first game will be between the House-Seniors and the Carnegie-Illinois Steel. The second game will send the strong Universals into battle with the Keystone A. C. in what looks like the feature game on the night's menu.

The third game will have the Gersons, the league leaders tackling the Johnson Bronze quintet.

Pulaski Reserves Top Frisco Five

The K. Pulaski Reserves paced by those two great stars Teddie Kolcz and "Beans" Balin handled the Frisco Merchants Reserves of Ellwood City a 40 to 17 drubbing last night at the K. P. hall. Kolcz had 10 of the points and Balin had 12 of the pomts.

At the half the score favored the K. P. team 22 to 6. "Soupe" Smyth also played a fine game for the K. P's. For the Friscos the work of Shaffer and Swick was the best.

Gersons To Play At West Middlesex

The Gersons basketball team, leaders of the House-Indus league at the "Y" will have a strong foe on its hands tonight when they go to West Middlesex to battle the famous Merchants quintet.

Manager W. Burgo wants the following boys to report at the "Y" not later than 7 o'clock to make the trip: Keane, Cooper, Kawa, O'Brien, Lewellyn, Laitenen, Whitemann, Wallace, Nickie Ross, and Greg Ross.

In the absence of Coach Earl Bauman, the team will be handled by Austin Cowmeadow, coach of the championship Mahoning Junior High team.

He Wants $16,500

Billy Sullivan

Asking for more money than has been paid to any player on the Cleveland Indians since Wesley Ferrell drew $18,000 in 1931, Billy Sullivan, above, hard-hitting second string catcher, demands $16,500 for his services in 1937, according to C. C. Slapnicka, general manager of the Tribe. Sullivan says he is entitled to that much money because the club depends upon him as a utility infielder, saving salary and expenses of another player.

Braddock-Louis Bout Is Assured For Chicago Ring

Chairman Joe Triner Of Chicago Commission Says "There Is No Turning Back"

DATE OF FIGHT WILL BE JUNE 22

By BILL COLLINS
International News Service Sports Writer

CHICAGO, Feb. 19.—The Madison Square Garden Corporation Thursday warned of dire consequences to come if James J. Braddock defends his heavyweight championship against Joe Louis here and received a curt reply from the Illinois Athletic Commission that the show will go on June 22, anyway.

As Braddock himself arrived here for the historic signing of documents today before the news cameras, Chairman Joe Triner of the Athletic Commission took pencil in hand to advise the Garden that the champion will battle Louis, and that the bout in no way will affect the Garden's contract which calls for a meeting between Braddock and Max Schmeling in New York June 3.

Braddock-Louis To Sign Today For Big Battle

Scratching Of Pens On Contracts Will Be Carried Around World By Radio

By BILL COLLINS
International News Service Sports Writer

CHICAGO, Feb. 19.—Celebration of George Washington's birthday Monday will be an anti-climax to today's historic occasion—the formal signing of contracts for a title bout at Comiskey Park, June 22, between champion James J. Braddock and Joe Louis for the benefit of microphones, cameras and apparently barristers.

All was in readiness for the fanciest signing for a prize fight in the history of pugilism, despite the fact everything—that is everything except Braddock's prior contract with Madison Square Garden to fight Max Schmeling in New York, June 3—was arranged in the back room weeks ago.

Heard Around World

The scratch of the pens as Braddock and Louis squiggle their signatures to the historic documents will be heard throughout the nation—if the boys aren't having at the free lunch with too great gusto. Afterwards champion Braddock and challenger Louis and others will broadcast a few well-chosen words over two nation-wide hook-ups to the accompaniment of the clicking camera shutters and the palm-rubbing of the barristers.

In fact, the palm rubbing started yesterday when Col. John Reed Kilpatrick, president of Madison Square Garden, fired the first legal gun in the skirmish to prevent Braddock from going through with the battle.

In a telegram to chairman Joe Triner of the Illinois Boxing commission, and identical messages to Sheldon Clark, president of the Sporting club of Illinois, Mike Jacobs who holds a contract to Louis' services and is co-promoter with the Sporting club, and to Joe Gould, Braddock's manager, Col. Kilpatrick indicated action will be brought in federal court, if necessary, to enforce fulfillment of Braddock's contract with the garden.

"There will be no compromise so far as the garden is concerned, said the colonel. "We are ready for a showdown.

"We are old-fashioned enough to believe in keeping our agreements."

Kilpatrick charged the Illinois commission was interfering with the garden's contract with Braddock.

FISH COMMISSION TO ISSUE COLOR BOOKLET

HARRISBURG, Feb. 19.—Following receipt of many orders for the new fish commission bulletin "Common Fishes of Pennsylvania", the fish commission said today that a printing delay has retarded receipt of these books.

It was pointed out that all letters are being carefully filed and that the booklet will be sent out to all those who have ordered it as soon as it is available.

Owing to the fact that this is the first booklet of its kind to be published by the fish commission in which common fishes of the state will appear in color, there has been a very great demand for the booklet. There will be a charge of 25 cents for this booklet to cover cost of printing and mailing.

Keystones Lose At Aliquippa 38 To 36

The Keystone A. C. went to Aliquippa last night and met the Plodenic Celtics and come home on the short end of a 38 to 36 decision. The game was decided in the final twelve seconds of play by Robinson, former Aliquippa High star who made a field goal.

The Keys led at the halfway mark 21 to 16, but failed to maintain their pace in the second half of the game. Sammy Bullano and Paulie Morrison were the scoring stars for the Keys with 22 of the points between them. For the "Quips" the playing of Fechusak and Robinson was the best.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESFEALL

For those of you who hold grudges against your neighbors and condemn an organization because there is one or two persons connected with that organization you are not crazy about . . . remember this little quotation contributed by L. W. Kisthart . . . "Don't nurse the evil doings you see in others, for they are often as contagious as a cold" . . . we thank you sir and that is a very good suggestion.

* * *

Windsor ties are coming back in style . . . that was the thought the other evening as we walked into a certain store . . . the prop. a very conservative sort of a gink was wearing the little black bow tie . . . Charlie Brenneman meet Hard.

* * *

The public at large are in arms about this idea of changing from two judges to one . . . anyone could see that it would be foolish to do such a thing . . . figures alone prove that . . . it would cost the county more to have one judge than it does to keep two.

* * *

Don't forget that tonight you are going to the High School . . . one of the greatest singers that New Castle has heard in many a moon will be giving forth . . . it will not be a dry program . . . there is plenty of fun in this fellow . . . he held a high school assembly spellbound . . . none other than William Bowers . . . remember you are helping a worthy cause . . . new uniforms for the band.

Dear Red . . . in Wampum . . . our time is limited and sometimes some of the interesting things that happen escape our eyes and ears . . . I am sure that there must be something of interest down your way . . . how about letting us in on some of the fun . . . your sense of humor is alright . . . we are interested.

Men . . . have you tried to buy your own magazine lately . . . it seems that the opposite sex also go for it . . . what is so interesting?

Steels-Coppers Lead Advance In Today's Market

Bullish Enthusiasm Is Revived On Hope Of Considerable Armament Business

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service
Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—Steels and coppers led a sharp advance in the stock market today, as bullish enthusiasm was revived by the hope of large armament business. Gains in leaders ran to more than 2 points and the tape fell behind for a time.

In steels and coppers, blocks ran to 8,000 shares of Anaconda, which started 1½ points higher at a new top of 60½ and 6,000 U. S. Steel at 108⅞, up 1¾. The latter then spurted to 110¼, the best price since 1931. Bethlehem soared more than 3 points.

International Nickel jumped 1¾ points to a new top at 70. American Smelting was up more than 4 points, and Cerro De Pasco, up well over a point.

Liquors, rails, oils and aviations chalked up moderate gains. Utilities lagged.

Scheneley spurted more than a point to above 46. National Distillers and Distillers Seagrams each registered large fractional gains.

General Motors and Chrysler found it difficult to hold above last night's final quotations. Baltimore & Ohio and Illinois Central went to new highes in rails. U. S. Smelting climbed 2 points.

Bonds were steady. Grains and cotton moved irregularly higher.

Wage Demands Biggest Issue In Mine Parley

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—With both sides standing pat, the United Mine Workers of America and the Appalachian bituminous coal operators prepared today to begin their second day of negotiations in a closed joint committee session.

While the union's proposals call for shortened hours, higher wages, guarantee of 200 working days annually at a basic $6.00 daily rate, time and a half for overtime, and two weeks vacation with pay, it appeared certain today that the fight would definitely center on the economic issue.

Observers minimized the part to be played by the union's proposed 30-hour week and the 40-hour week advocated by operators, dismissing them as "bargaining points."

Wage Controversy Chief Point.

Spokesmen for both sides, Philip Murray, vice-president of the Mine Workers, and Charles P. O'Neill, of the operators, indicated in their proposals at the opening session that principal stress would be laid upon the wage controversy.

Operators will insist that increased operating costs and declining markets make imposible the wage increases proposed by the union. They make no secret of the fact that they are out to reduce costs, and therefore are asking miners to work 40 hours a week for the same wages they now receive for 35.

The union is concentrating its efforts on obtaining a larger annual wage for miners. They are asking a 50-cent increase in the basic daily pay rate, increased piece-work rates, and a guarantee of 200 working days a year—in effect a demand for a minimum annual wage of $1,200. They argue that present wages are far below the subsistence level.
